Sen. Vandenberg Urges Creation Of Advisory Council To Determine How Much Aid U.S. Can Give World

GOP Leader Proposes "Total Balance Sheet"

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) tonight called for the creation of a top-level council of Republicans and Democrats to tackle the vast problem of how far the United States can go in putting a war-stricken world on its feet.

The issue must be met with "vision and courage," said the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but the first step should be a "sound, overall inventory of our own resources" because:

"If America ever sags, the world's hopes sag with her."

Vandenberg's statement came at a time when Secretary of State Marshall was calling for Europe to draft a continent-wide economic plan. Some of his aides have suggested that Europe may need as much as $24,000,000,000 for rehabilitation in the next four years.

Vandenberg said he welcomes open discussion of proposals to extend American aid "to prevent social and economic collapse in many parts of the world." This country "cannot prosper in a broken world," he declared.

Urges "Total Balance Sheet"

But such discussions "should not be misunderstood at home or abroad" he added.

"At home they should not invite anxieties that we shall rush into imprudent or inadequately seasoned plans. Abroad, they should not be taken as evidence that our foreign friends can depend upon us as a substitute for depending on themselves."

He called for a "total balance sheet," including information on the following points:

"1. Overall latitude within which America may safely and wisely plan these foreign co-operations.

"2. The basis upon which they should be undertaken, including reciprocal considerations."

"3. The overall necessities, in Asia as well as Europe, which are calculated to be involved."

Saying that "we need a total balance sheet," Vandenberg proposed that "distinguished American citizens" be named to a "special bi-partisan advisory council at the highest attainable level as a center of co-ordination and as a further source of advice to both the executive and Congress." He did not specify who would name the group.

Aid Geared To Ability To Pay

He said its study could supplement the information obtained by the planning division of the State Department, as well as that gathered by other agencies.

The proposal of Vandenberg, chief Capitol Hill exponent of the bi-partisan foreign policy, comes at a time when Secretary of State Marshall has indicated favor of a plan for European self-help.

Marshall has ordered a study of Europe's needs, with the clear indication that out of this eventually will come a recommendation for American aid in carrying out an overall European economic recovery program.

Vandenberg's proposal indicated that he, as titular leader of the GOP congressional group on foreign policy matters, is willing to go along with an aid program geared to American ability to pay.

Lewis Is Ready To Call Strike, Hartley Says

Legislator Defends Union-Curbing Bill

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), of the House Labor Committee, said tonight that John L. Lewis "is going to call the United Mine Workers on strike—make no mistake about that."

And he declared that unless the Taft-Hartley labor bill becomes law, the United States "will be powerless to deal with Mr. Lewis" or any other labor leader with "wide power over our economy."

While Hartley expressed this view in a speech for the radio, some government labor experts who have been analyzing the bill said it could not stop a mine walkout. These experts, who withheld use of their names, called the measure unworkable.

Other presidential advisers, however, dispute the idea that the bill could not be useful to prevent a coal strike. They are reported urging President Truman to sign it and to be taking the view that if he vetoes it, Congress would override him and make it law anyway.

New York Mayor Criticized

Hartley advised Mayor William O'Dwyer, of New York, who has spoken against the bill, to stick to running the city without "telling the Congress of the United States how it shall legislate."

"Mayor O'Dwyer," he said, "has made a very studied effort to make this problem a partisan issue, but I would like to remind him that the labor bill which is now before the President, passed through both houses of Congress by a substantial majority of both parties in both houses."

"This bill," he added, "is not anti-labor, anti-capital, or anti-public; it is good sound Americanism embodying the rules of equity, justice and fair play."

For one thing, he said, the bill guarantees a worker freedom to organize and bargain collectively without "having a labor leader thrust on him against his wishes and on pain of losing his job."

Hartley Cites Bill's Guarantees

The bill also guarantees him, Hartley said, the right to:

To know what the labor leader is doing, how his dues are spent, how his union is run.

To work without first getting permission from labor bosses.

Federal attorneys in the veto-lit school say their analysis shows that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, could legally bring about a nationwide or partial shutdown of mines which "become unsafe" while closed for the 10-day vacation beginning June 27.

The measure specifically states that stoppages because of "abnormally dangerous conditions" are not strikes, and therefore Mr. Truman could not seek an injunction to halt such a shutdown under the "national emergency" provisions.

Virginia Area Combed; Report Airliner Found Not Confirmed

Ship On Flight From Chicago To Washington

Last Reported Over Martinsburg

LEESBURG, Va., June 14. (AP).—Police and civilians combed Virginia hillsides early today seeking a missing Capital Airlines plane with 50 persons aboard after failing to confirm reports that it had been located.

The search had been under way for hours after the plane, en route from Chicago to Washington, had gone unreported since last being heard from 65 miles from Washington.

The sheriff's office here said it had found no verification for a report given out by Lloyd Kelly, Leesburg police officer, that wreckage of the plane had been located between Purcellville and Hillsboro, Va.

Mrs. James E. Stone, daughter of Deputy Sheriff Charles F. Reed, who handled the telephones in the county jail in the absence of her father and Sheriff S. Paul Alexander, said no report of the plane being found had ben made to her.

Reported Over Martinsburg

She added that she also was in touch with the state police office at Culpepper, which sent four cars equipped with two-way radio to join the search.

The plane disappeared while en route from Chicago to Washington with 47 passengers and a crew of three. It last reported its position by radio over Martinsburg, W. Va., at 6:13 p. m. (E.S.T.) last night.

Highways and byways in the Hillsboro-Purcellville area, where various reports told of a plane crash, were alive with cars running back and forth

Associated Press reporters who telephoned from Leesburg and Purcellville after the Kelly report said that as far as they could learn no definite trace of the missing plane had been found.

In Richmond, state police said they were continuing the search of the area, but had found nothing.

Fire Chief M. D. Fetzer, of Purcellville, told the Frederick (Md.) Post there was "absolutely nothing to" reports of the plane being found.

Baby Among Passengers

Chief Fetzer quoted Officer Kelly as saying the report that the plane had been found came to him from an unknown source.

Ironically the missing plane may be down in the same general area where a plane of the same airline, also known as the Pennsylvania-Central, crashed on August 31, 1940, killing 25 persons. The victims then included Ernest Lundeen, of Minnesota.

The plane, carrying 47 passengers, including a baby, and a crew of three, left Chicago at 1:45 p. m. (EST) and was due in Washington at 6:35 p. m.

Various reports in the Hillsboro area sent state police, other officers and citizens into a widespread search.

A mail carrier there said he had seen flashes in the sky after hearing the sound of motors.

Arab Group Will Boycott U. N. Inquiry

Commission To Begin Its Work Next Week

LAKE SUCCESS, June 13 (AP)—The Arab Higher Committee for Palestine formally notified Secretary-General Trygve Lie today that it would boycott the United Nations Holy Land inquiry.

Lie immediately transmitted the text of the committee's communication to the chairman of the inquiry group which is now in Jerusalem and will begin its work next week.

In a cable to Lie signed by Jamaal Husseini, vice chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, the Palestine Arabs said that after careful study they had "resolved" to abstain from collaboration and "desist from appearing before" the United Nations Inquiry Commission.

The Arab Higher Committee said it had decided to boycott the inquiry for these main reasons:

1. "United Nations refusal to adopt the natural course of inserting termination of the (British) mandate and declaration of independence in the agenda of the special United Nations session and in the terms of reference (to the commission)."

2. "Failure to detach Jewish world refugees from the Palestine problem."

3. "Replacing the interests of Palestine inhabitants by insertion of world religious interests although these are not subject of contention."

Yugoslavia Protests

LAKE SUCCESS, June 13 (AP)—Yugoslavia charged tonight that the conduct of Mark F. Ethridge, American member of the United Nations Balkan Inquiry Commission, had "imperilled" the work of the investigating group and "the authority of the United Nations."

The charges were made in a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie by Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kosanovic.

Kosanovic criticized Ethridge because of statements the United States representative made in an interview in New York last Monday about aid furnished to Greek guerrillas by Bulgaria, Albania and Yugoslavia.

In the interview Ethridge said those three countries were "arming, training, supplying and giving hospitalization and refuge to guerrilla forces operating in Northern Greece."

Kosanovic did not request Lie to transmit his letter to the security council or distribute it among the delegates.

Russia Sounds Warning

LAKE SUCCESS, June 13 (AP) — Russia warned today that the United Nations Commission on Conventional Armaments might fail on its assigned task unless it accepts a Soviet demand to link the atomic control problem with arms limitation.

On another United Nations front, the Soviet Union charged at a meeting of the Drafting Committee of the Commission on Human Rights that the American-controlled Japanese government is "closing its eyes to Fascist activities" and that the "old Japanese military clique" is in power.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister who has fought for months to persuade the arms commission to tie the atom up to arms limitation, held up adjournment of the commission today to insist that the United Nations Assembly had recognized the connection between the two in its broad arms resolution of December 14 and that the commission should do the same.

Torrential Rains Bring New Floods To State Of Iowa

Several Hundred Families Evacuated

DES MOINES, June 13 (AP) — Roughly half of Iowa—that part south of a diagonal line from the southwest corner to the northeast corner—was battling flood waters or preparing to do so tonight.

For some of the sections it was the second time in a week that the rain-swollen interior rivers tore out of their banks.

Already several hundred families in at least a dozen cities or communities had been driven from their homes.

Some streams had set record high flood stages and others were scheduled to do so over the weekend.

The industrial city of Ottumwa, one-third of which was under water a week ago, braced itself for another disastrous flood expected to peak there by noon Sunday.

Crest of the swollen Des Moines River, which last week set a new record high, was believed to have passed Des Moines today with a reading of 18.7 feet and was expected to reach 24.5 feet early tomorrow at Tracy, some 50 miles downstream from here.

Several hundred families were evacuated from lowland sections of Des Moines, where the Raccoon and Des Moines Rivers join. Approximately 400 homes had from an inch to five feet of water in them.

The new floods in Iowa, along with some in Northwest Missouri, resulted from torrential rains. New record crests were predicted in the already ravaged five-state midwestern watersheds of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers.

Ernest Bevin Endorses Marshall Aid Program

LONDON, June 13 (AP) — Ernest Bevin declared today that Britain will take the initiative in organizing the American-proposed program for rebuilding the shattered economy of Europe. He hailed the plan as a "bridge to link the East and West."

The British Foreign Secretary, in endorsing the program recently outlined by United States Secretary of State George G. Marshall, welcomed American inclusion of Russia among countries eligible to participate in the plan.

St. Louis In Grip Of Transit Tieup

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (AP)—Public transportation in the metropolitan St. Louis area of more than 1,000,000 persons was tied up today by a strike of the city's 3,500 streetcar and bus operators, and thousands experienced difficulty and delay in getting to and from work.

Main thoroughfares were jammed with private automobiles during the rush hours. Traffic snarls developed at numerous intersections, despite special police measures to regulate the flow.

Most persons managed to report for work one way or another, and business and institutions generally reported operations were about normal. Motorists joined in a spirit of community co-operation and shared their cars.

The walkout, of which many St. Louisans learned only after they started for work, began this morning following a stormy union meeting at which the employes of the St. Louis Public Service Company voted 2,072 to 147 in favor of a strike as a result of a wage arbitration dispute.

Senate-House Committee Approves Rent Measure

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — A bill raising rents 15 percent if both landlord and tenant agree on a two-year lease was approved by a Senate-House conference committee late today.

The measure, a compromise between differing House and Senate bills, would extend rent controls through next February 29.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) told newsmen the legislation may reach the White House by Friday. He said the House expects to pass it Wednesday and the Senate may act Thursday.

Big Top Employe Sought In Circus Murder Case

BALTIMORE, June 13 (AP)—Police combed the sprawling tent world of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus today for Hubert (The Sheriff) Thompson, big top employe charged in a warrant with the slaying of huge, gaudily-tattooed Richard Sheehan.

Sheehan, a sub-contractor in charge of the circus sanitary crew, was found dead with five bullet wounds in his chest in a truck drivers' rest tent yesterday. After prolonged questioning of circus personnel, police swore out a warrant against the 40-year-old Thompson.

There had been trouble between the "Sheriff" and the 41-year-old Sheehan, a six foot, seven inch giant, in circus winter headquarters at Sarasota, Fla., Police Capt. Oscar Koch reported.

Klan Surrenders Parent Charter In Georgia Court

State Contended KKK Operated For Profit

ATLANTA, June 13 (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan surrendered its charter as a national corporation in Superior Court today and the attorney for the hooded order said the action "works a final and, I hope, conclusive interment of the Klan."

"The chief mourners," said Attorney Morgan Belser, "will be political demagogues who will find themselves without a political issue."

In a procedure which took only a few minutes, Superior Judge Bond Almand accepted the Klan's petition dissolving the corporation and immediately signed the state's plea to revoke the organization's parent charter which limited it to "benevolent purposes." The state suit accused the Klan of operating for profit.

Before the hearing opened, the state dismissed three other counts which sought to link the Klan with subversive and terroristic activities. Of these counts Belser said:

"They reflect on the integrity of several thousands of persons, of several judges, of several governors, of several congressmen, of several school teachers, school superintendents, of several ministers and, yes, some newspapermen."

Attorney General Eugene Cook said he would seek a quick hearing on similar proceedings directed against the charter of the Columbians, a uniformed hate organization which flourished in Atlanta last fall, but has since disbanded.

Cook admitted that today's judgement does not prevent the Klan from operating as an unchartered group "under our constitutional rights of free assembly."

Lane Proclaims July 5 Legal Holiday In State

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 13 (AP) — Gov. Lane today proclaimed Saturday, July 5, a legal holiday throughout the state.

The action was taken, the Governor said, to coincide with the Fourth of July holiday.

Although state offices close on Saturday in the summer, the proclamation will affect banks that ordinarily open and many business places.

Murray Says Maritime Walkout Monday Likely

Schwellenbach Asks Contract Extensions

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray said tonight that "in all likelihood" there will be a walkout of CIO unions in the maritime industry when contracts expire Sunday night.

Murray told a news conference that in the event employers and the unions fail to come to agreement by then, the unions would have "the support of the CIO."

Murray said that ship owners have shown "unwillingness" to bargain on a new contract while the Taft-Hartley labor bill is under consideration by President Truman.

Optimism Is Expressed

Frank J. Taylor, a spokesman for the Gulf and East Coast operators, expressed optimism that a tieup would be averted, however. He said in New York that both sides have scheduled further negotiating sessions for the weekend and that one union plans to attend a session on Monday, apparently "because they don't expect to be on strike then."

And although Murray counted a Pacific Coast walkout likely along with tieups on the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, reports from San Francisco told of improved prospects for peace there. Three of five CIO unions there already have taken some action to continue existing contracts.

Despite the gloomy picture by Murray, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach appealed to the ship owners on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and to three CIO unions to continue under present contracts while the Labor Department tries its hand at conciliating.

ANTI-COMMUNIST GROUP ACTS TO HALT WALLACE SPEECH IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—The American Anti-Communist Association moved today to halt the scheduled Monday night speech of Henry A. Wallace, whose methods, the association said, "incite human emotions toward riot and insurrection."

The organization asked Federal District Court to deny Wallace the use of the Watergate Amphitheater, where his speech is scheduled to take place.

The action was brought against Secretary of the Interior Krug, whose department controls the outdoor theater.

The court petition said the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which is sponsoring Wallace, was listed among Communist-front organizations in a House Unamerican Activities Committee report.

The executive secretary of the Anti-Communist Association, George Perkins, said that arguments on the motion will be heard in district court Monday.

New Budget Cuts Ordered By House

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — Budget cuts ranging from 30 per cent for the Atomic Energy Commission to 1.8 per cent for the Veterans Administration were ordered today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee acted in sending to the House floor an $8,167,869,027 appropriation bill supplying funds for the fiscal year starting July 1 for 33 so-called "independent offices" — the agencies not connected with any of the regular departments headed by Cabinet secretaries.

The total of new appropriations is less than President Truman asked by $330,540,732, or 3.9 per cent.

This reduction brings to about $3,580,000,000 the total appropriation cuts approved in the House to date from the President's $37,500,000,000 budget, with only three comparatively small appropriation bills still to come.

The Republicans had set $6,000,000,000 as their savings goal for the year. They claim that the actual savings will be much larger than the $3,580,000,000 in appropriations cuts because of cancellations of previous appropriations and other reasons. Democrats reply that a number of the claimed savings are "phony."

The Senate, which so far has acted on only two of the eight major appropriation bills passed by the House, is generally expected to restore a part of the funds which the House counted as savings.

Truman Back In Capital

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — President Truman returned to Washington tonight from his good will mission to Canada to tackle controversial labor curbing and tax cutting bills now awaiting his approval or rejection.

His 11-car special train which carried him to Ottawa for a speech to the Canadian Parliament pulled into the Union Station at 8:43 p. m. (E.S.T.) He and Mrs. Truman, and their daughter, Margaret, drove immediately to the White House.

Senators Pop In And Out As Debate On Bulwinkle Measure Drones On

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — This is the story of an hour in the United States Senate, of what went on between 11 a. m. and noon this Friday the thirteenth.

The 11 a. m. opening was an hour earlier that usual. It was set to speed along the work.

The chaplain prayed for the Senate, the country, the nation. Several routine motions were made.

Then, observing that only six senators—plus presiding Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) — were around, someone suggested the absence of a quorum.

The clerk droned through the list of 96 names twice. From time to time senators popped in—like gophers on guard duty—to answer the roll call. Then they popped right out again, presumably to go to committee meetings elsewhere.

At 11.26, Vandenberg said: "Fifty senators having answered to their name, a quorum is present."

There were eight senators, a net gain of two, on the floor at the time.

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) started talking about the Bulwinkle bill. This would exempt railroads from anti-trust suits if they fixed their rates jointly with Interstate Commerce Commission approval. The Senate has been talking about—and roundabout—this bill for five days.

Johnston, in a half hour's speech yesterday, said he didn't like it. Surrounded by heaps of books and papers, Johnston started off again. He still didn't like it.

At 11:31 there were seven senators

Sen. Vandenberg Urges Creation Of Advisory Council To Determine How Much Aid U.S. Can Give World

GOP Leader Proposes "Total Balance Sheet"

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) tonight called for the creation of a top-level council of Republicans and Democrats to tackle the vast problem of how far the United States can go in putting a war-stricken world on its feet.

The issue must be met with "vision and courage," said the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but the first step should be a "sound, overall inventory of our own resources" because: "If America ever sags, the world's hopes sag with her."

Vandenberg's statement came at a time when Secretary of State Marshall was calling for Europe to draft a continent-wide economic plan. Some of his aides have suggested that Europe may need as much as $24,000,000,000 for rehabilitation in the next four years.

Vandenberg said he welcomes open discussion of proposals to extend American aid "to prevent social and economic collapse in many parts of the world." This country "cannot prosper in a broken world," he declared.

Urges "Total Balance Sheet"

But such discussions "should not be misunderstood at home or abroad" he added.

"At home they should not invite anxieties that we shall rush into imprudent or inadequately seasoned plans. Abroad, they should not be taken as evidence that our foreign friends can depend upon us as a substitute for depending on themselves."

He called for a "total balance sheet," including information on the following points:

"1. Overall latitude within which America may safely and wisely plan these foreign co-operations.

"2. The basis upon which they should be undertaken, including reciprocal considerations."

"3. The overall necessities, in Asia as well as Europe, which are calculated to be involved."

Saying that "we need a total balance sheet," Vandenberg proposed that "distinguished American citizens" be named to a "special bi-partisan advisory council at the highest attainable level as a center of co-ordination and as a further source of advice to both the executive and Congress." He did not specify who would name the group.

Aid Geared To Ability To Pay

He said its study could supplement the information obtained by the planning division of the State Department, as well as that gathered by other agencies.

The proposal of Vandenberg, chief Capitol Hill exponent of the bi-partisan foreign policy, comes at a time when Secretary of State Marshall has indicated favor of a plan for European self-help.

Marshall has ordered a study of Europe's needs, with the clear indication that out of this eventually will come a recommendation for American aid in carrying out an overall European economic recovery program.

Vandenberg's proposal indicated that he, as titular leader of the GOP congressional group on foreign policy matters, is willing to go along with an aid program geared to American ability to pay.

Legislator Defends Union-Curbing Bill

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), of the House Labor Committee, said tonight that John L. Lewis "is going to call the United Mine Workers on strike—make no mistake about that."

And he declared that unless the Taft-Hartley labor bill becomes law, the United States "will be powerless to deal with Mr. Lewis" or any other labor leader with "wide power over our economy."

While Hartley expressed this view in a speech for the radio, some government labor experts who have been analyzing the bill said it could not stop a mine walkout. These experts, who withheld use of their names, called the measure unworkable.

Other presidential advisers, however, dispute the idea that the bill could not be useful to prevent a coal strike. They are reported urging President Truman to sign it and to be taking the view that if he vetoes it, Congress would override him and make it law anyway.

New York Mayor Criticized

Hartley advised Mayor William O'Dwyer, of New York, who has spoken against the bill, to stick to running the city without "telling the Congress of the United States how it shall legislate."

"Mayor O'Dwyer," he said, "has made a very studied effort to make this problem a partisan issue, but I would like to remind him that the labor bill which is now before the President, passed through both houses of Congress by a substantial majority of both parties in both houses."

"This bill," he added, "is not anti-labor, anti-capital, or anti-public; it is good sound Americanism embodying the rules of equity, justice and fair play."

For one thing, he said, the bill guarantees a worker freedom to organize and bargain collectively without "having a labor leader thrust on him against his wishes and on pain of losing his job."

Hartley Cites Bill's Guarantees

The bill also guarantees him, Hartley said, the right to:

To know what the labor leader is doing, how his dues are spent, how his union is run.

To work without first getting permission from labor bosses.

Federal attorneys in the veto-it school say their analysis shows that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, could legally bring about a nationwide or partial shutdown of mines which "become unsafe" while closed for the 10-day vacation beginning June 27.

The measure specifically states that stoppages because of "abnormally dangerous conditions" are not strikes, and therefore Mr. Truman could not seek an injunction to halt such a shutdown under the "national emergency" provisions.

LEESBURG, Va., June 14. (AP).—Police and civilians combed Virginia hillsides early today seeking a missing Capital Airlines plane with 50 persons aboard after failing to confirm reports that it had been located.

The search had been under way for hours after the plane, en route from Chicago to Washington, had gone unreported since last being heard from 65 miles from Washington.

The sheriff's office here said it had found no verification for a report given out by Lloyd Kelly, Leesburg police officer, that wreckage of the plane had been located between Purcellville and Hillsboro, Va.

Mrs. James E. Stone, daughter of Deputy Sheriff Charles F. Reed, who handled the telephones in the county jail in the absence of her father and Sheriff S. Paul Alexander, said no report of the plane being found had ben made to her.

Reported Over Martinsburg

She added that she also was in touch with the state police office at Culpepper, which sent four cars equipped with two-way radio to join the search.

The plane disappeared while en route from Chicago to Washington with 47 passengers and a crew of three. It last reported its position by radio over Martinsburg, W. Va., at 6:13 p. m. (E.S.T.) last night.

Highways and byways in the Hillsboro-Purcellville area, where various reports told of a plane crash, were alive with cars running back and forth

Associated Press reporters who telephoned from Leesburg and Purcellville after the Kelly report said that as far as they could learn no definite trace of the missing plane had been found.

In Richmond, state police said they were continuing the search of the area, but had found nothing.

Fire Chief M. D. Fetzer, of Purcellville, told the Frederick (Md.) Post there was "absolutely nothing to" reports of the plane being found.

Baby Among Passengers

Chief Fetzer quoted Officer Kelly as saying the report that the plane had been found came to him from an unknown source.

Ironically the missing plane may be down in the same general area where a plane of the same airline, also known as the Pennsylvania-Central, crashed on August 31, 1940, killing 25 persons. The victims then included Ernest Lundeen, of Minnesota.

The plane, carrying 47 passengers, including a baby, and a crew of three, left Chicago at 1:45 p. m. (EST) and was due in Washington at 6:35 p. m.

Various reports in the Hillsboro area sent state police, other officers and citizens into a widespread search.

A mail carrier there said he had seen flashes in the sky after hearing the sound of motors.

Arab Group Will Boycott U. N. Inquiry

Commission To Begin Its Work Next Week

LAKE SUCCESS, June 13 (AP)—The Arab Higher Committee for Palestine formally notified Secretary-General Trygve Lie today that it would boycott the United Nations Holy Land inquiry.

Lie immediately transmitted the text of the committee's communication to the chairman of the inquiry group which is now in Jerusalem and will begin its work next week.

In a cable to Lie signed by Jamaal Husseini, vice chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, the Palestine Arabs said that after careful study they had "resolved" to abstain from collaboration and "desist from appearing before" the United Nations Inquiry Commission.

The Arab Higher Committee said it had decided to boycott the inquiry for these main reasons:

1. "United Nations refusal to adopt the natural course of inserting termination of the (British) mandate and declaration of independence in the agenda of the special United Nations session and in the terms of reference (to the commission)."

2. "Failure to detach Jewish world refugees from the Palestine problem."

3. "Replacing the interests of Palestine inhabitants by insertion of world religious interests although these are not subject of contention."

Yugoslavia Protests

LAKE SUCCESS, June 13 (AP)—Yugoslavia charged tonight that the conduct of Mark F. Ethridge, American member of the United Nations Balkan Inquiry Commission, had "imperilled" the work of the investigating group and "the authority of the United Nations."

The charges were made in a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie by Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kosanovic.

Kosanovic criticized Ethridge because of statements the United States representative made in an interview in New York last Monday about aid furnished to Greek guerrillas by Bulgaria, Albania and Yugoslavia.

In the interview Ethridge said those three countries were "arming, training, supplying and giving hospitalization and refuge to guerrilla forces operating in Northern Greece."

Kosanovic did not request Lie to transmit his letter to the security council or distribute it among the delegates.

Russia Sounds Warning

LAKE SUCCESS, June 13 (AP) — Russia warned today that the United Nations Commission on Conventional Armaments might fail on its assigned task unless it accepts a Soviet demand to link the atomic control problem with arms limitation.

On another United Nations front, the Soviet Union charged at a meeting of the Drafting Committee of the Commission on Human Rights that the American-controlled Japanese government is "closing its eyes to Fascist activities" and that the "old Japanese military clique" is in power.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister who has fought for months to persuade the arms commission to tie the atom up to arms limitation, held up adjournment of the commission today to insist that the United Nations Assembly had recognized the connection between the two in its broad arms resolution of December 14 and that the commission should do the same.

BET ON HERSELF — While some of the customers were getting a different kind of education, Adele Marsh paid her way through the University of Nevada by working as a dealer in a Reno gambling resort during vacation periods. Miss Marsh, who headed the class honor roll, graduated from marriage in the divorce capital in 1943 and, waiting her decree, found she could make $15 a day in one of the temples of chance. Then she entered college.

Several Hundred Families Evacuated

DES MOINES, June 13 (AP) — Roughly half of Iowa—that part south of a diagonal line from the southwest corner to the northeast corner—was battling flood waters or preparing to do so tonight.

For some of the sections it was the second time in a week that the rain-swollen interior rivers tore out of their banks.

Already several hundred families in at least a dozen cities or communities had been driven from their homes.

Some streams had set record high flood stages and others were scheduled to do so over the weekend.

The industrial city of Ottumwa, one-third of which was under water a week ago, braced itself for another disastrous flood expected to peak there by noon Sunday.

Crest of the swollen Des Moines River, which last week set a new record high, was believed to have passed Des Moines today with a reading of 18.7 feet and was expected to reach 24.5 feet early tomorrow at Tracy, some 50 miles downstream from here.

Several hundred families were evacuated from lowland sections of Des Moines, where the Raccoon and Des Moines Rivers join. Approximately 400 homes had from an inch to five feet of water in them.

The new floods in Iowa, along with some in Northwest Missouri, resulted from torrential rains. New record crests were predicted in the already ravaged five-state midwestern watersheds of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers.

Ernest Bevin Endorses Marshall Aid Program

LONDON, June 13 (AP) — Ernest Bevin declared today that Britain will take the initiative in organizing the American-proposed program for rebuilding the shattered economy of Europe. He hailed the plan as a "bridge to link the East and West."

The British Foreign Secretary, in endorsing the program recently outlined by United States Secretary of State George G. Marshall, welcomed American inclusion of Russia among countries eligible to participate in the plan.

Big Top Employe Sought In Circus Murder Case

BALTIMORE, June 13 (AP)—Police combed the sprawling tent world of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus today for Hubert (The Sheriff) Thompson, big top employe charged in a warrant with the slaying of huge, gaudily-tattooed Richard Sheehan.

Sheehan, a sub-contractor in charge of the circus sanitary crew, was found dead with five bullet wounds in his chest in a truck drivers' rest tent yesterday. After prolonged questioning of circus personnel, police swore out a warrant against the 40-year-old Thompson.

There had been trouble between the "Sheriff" and the 41-year-old Sheehan, a six foot, seven inch giant, in circus winter headquarters at Sarasota, Fla., Police Capt. Oscar Koch reported.

Shepperd Nominated

St. Louis In Grip Of Transit Tieup

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (AP)—Public transportation in the metropolitan St. Louis area of more than 1,000,000 persons was tied up today by a strike of the city's 3,500 streetcar and bus operators, and thousands experienced difficulty and delay in getting to and from work.

Main thoroughfares were jammed with private automobiles during the rush hours. Traffic snarls developed at numerous intersections, despite special police measures to regulate the flow.

Most persons managed to report for work one way or another, and business and institutions generally reported operations were about normal. Motorists joined in a spirit of community co-operation and shared their cars.

The walkout, of which many St. Louisans learned only after they started for work, began this morning following a stormy union meeting at which the employes of the St. Louis Public Service Company voted 2,072 to 147 in favor of a strike as a result of a wage arbitration dispute.

Senate-House Committee Approves Rent Measure

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — A bill raising rents 15 percent if both landlord and tenant agree on a two-year lease was approved by a Senate-House conference committee late today.

The measure, a compromise between differing House and Senate bills, would extend rent controls through next February 29.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) told newsmen the legislation may reach the White House by Friday. He said the House expects to pass it Wednesday and the Senate may act Thursday.

Klan Surrenders Parent Charter In Georgia Court

State Contended KKK Operated For Profit

ATLANTA, June 13 (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan surrendered its charter as a national corporation in Superior Court today and the attorney for the hooded order said the action "works a final and, I hope, conclusive interment of the Klan."

"The chief mourners," said Attorney Morgan Belser, "will be political demagogues who will find themselves without a political issue."

In a procedure which took only a few minutes, Superior Judge Bond Almand accepted the Klan's petition dissolving the corporation and immediately signed the state's plea to revoke the organization's parent charter which limited it to "benevolent purposes." The state suit accused the Klan of operating for profit.

Before the hearing opened, the state dismissed three other counts which sought to link the Klan with subversive and terroristic activities. Of these counts Belser said:

"They reflect on the integrity of several thousands of persons, of several judges, of several governors, of several congressmen, of several school teachers, school superintendents, of several ministers and, yes, some newspapermen."

Attorney General Eugene Cook said he would seek a quick hearing on similar proceedings directed against the charter of the Columbians, a uniformed hate organization which flourished in Atlanta last fall, but has since disbanded.

Cook admitted that today's judgement does not prevent the Klan from operating as an unchartered group "under our constitutional rights of free assembly."

Lane Proclaims July 5 Legal Holiday In State

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 13 (AP) — Gov. Lane today proclaimed Saturday, July 5, a legal holiday throughout the state.

The action was taken, the Governor said, to coincide with the Fourth of July holiday.

Although state offices close on Saturday in the summer, the proclamation will affect banks that ordinarily open and many business places.

Schwellenbach Asks Contract Extensions

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray said tonight that "in all likelihood" there will be a walkout of CIO unions in the maritime industry when contracts expire Sunday night.

Murray told a news conference that in the event employers and the unions fail to come to agreement by then, the unions would have "the support of the CIO."

Murray said that ship owners have shown "unwillingness" to bargain on a new contract while the Taft-Hartley labor bill is under consideration by President Truman.

Optimism Is Expressed

Frank J. Taylor, a spokesman for the Gulf and East Coast operators, expressed optimism that a tieup would be averted, however. He said in New York that both sides have scheduled further negotiating sessions for the weekend and that one union plans to attend a session on Monday, apparently "because they don't expect to be on strike then."

And although Murray counted a Pacific Coast walkout likely along with tieups on the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, reports from San Francisco told of improved prospects for peace there. Three of five CIO unions there already have taken some action to continue existing contracts.

Despite the gloomy picture by Murray, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach appealed to the ship owners on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and to three CIO unions to continue under present contracts while the Labor Department tries its hand at conciliating.

Warren, Bridges, Bryson Confer

He said that a work stoppage "at this time would seriously damage the American Merchant Marine and would seriously embarrass our government in the carrying out of its foreign commitments."

ANTI-COMMUNIST GROUP ACTS TO HALT WALLACE SPEECH IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—The American Anti-Communist Association moved today to halt the scheduled Monday night speech of Henry A. Wallace, whose methods, the association said, "incite human emotions toward riot and insurrection."

The organization asked Federal District Court to deny Wallace the use of the Watergate Amphitheater, where his speech is scheduled to take place.

The action was brought against Secretary of the Interior Krug, whose department controls the outdoor theater.

The court petition said the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, which is sponsoring Wallace, was listed among Communist-front organizations in a House Unamerican Activities Committee report.

The executive secretary of the Anti-Communist Association, George Perkins, said that arguments on the motion will be heard in district court Monday.

New Budget Cuts Ordered By House

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — Budget cuts ranging from 30 per cent for the Atomic Energy Commission to 1.8 per cent for the Veterans Administration were ordered today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee acted in sending to the House floor an $8,167,869,027 appropriation bill supplying funds for the fiscal year starting July 1 for 33 so-called "independent offices" — the agencies not connected with any of the regular departments headed by Cabinet secretaries.

The total of new appropriations is less than President Truman asked by $330,540,732, or 3.9 per cent.

This reduction brings to about $3,580,000,000 the total appropriation cuts approved in the House to date from the President's $37,500,000,000 budget, with only three comparatively small appropriation bills still to come.

The Republicans had set $6,000,000,000 as their savings goal for the year. They claim that the actual savings will be much larger than the $3,580,000,000 in appropriations cuts because of cancellations of previous appropriations and other reasons. Democrats reply that a number of the claimed savings are "phony."

The Senate, which so far has acted on only two of the eight major appropriation bills passed by the House, is generally expected to restore a part of the funds which the House counted as savings.

Truman Back In Capital

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — President Truman returned to Washington tonight from his good will mission to Canada to tackle controversial labor curbing and tax cutting bills now awaiting his approval or rejection.

His 11-car special train which carried him to Ottawa for a speech to the Canadian Parliament pulled into the Union Station at 8:43 p. m. (E.S.T.) He and Mrs. Truman, and their daughter, Margaret, drove immediately to the White House.

Senators Pop In And Out As Debate On Bulwinkle Measure Drones On

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — This is the story of an hour in the United States Senate, of what went on between 11 a. m. and noon this Friday the thirteenth.

The 11 a. m. opening was an hour earlier that usual. It was set to speed along the work.

The chaplain prayed for the Senate, the country, the nation. Several routine motions were made.

Then, observing that only six senators—plus presiding Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) — were around, someone supgested the absence of a quorum.

The clerk droned through the list of 96 names twice. From time to time senators popped in—like gophers on guard duty—to answer the roll call. Then they popped right out again, presumably to go to committee meetings elsewhere.

At 11.26, Vandenberg said: "Fifty senators having answered to their name, a quorum is present."

There were eight senators, a net gain of two, on the floor at the time.

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) started talking about the Bulwinkle bill. This would exempt railroads from anti-trust suits if they fixed their rates jointly with Interstate Commerce Commission approval. The Senate has been talking about—and roundabout—this bill for five days.

Johnston, in a half hour's speech yesterday, said he didn't like it. Surrounded by heaps of books and papers, Johnston started off again. He still didn't like it.

At 11:31 there were seven senators

A LETTER TO DAD

Father's Day!

Long time since my own pioneer Dad swept his beard over his Joe Louis chest. . . hit the trail every morning for a twelve to fourteen hour drive. . . carried the lives of Mom and five kids on his sixteen cylinder heart until it broke.

(Listening, Dad? Managing somehow still to keep contact with your girl? I bet you are. Never saw the monkey wrench, that could cramp your style anywhere, any time. But even if you're too busy out there to hear, this goes for millions like you, with all my love.)

Things have changed plenty since I laughed and squabbled with that young Dad of mine. Working hours shortened . . . wages zoomed . . . hard going padded by a thousand devices to fit a faster, fuller world.

But one thing hasn't changed in the long trail, pardner. Regardless of the rules, Dad's still doing business at the same old stand. And whatever his age or job, nine times out of ten he's still carrying most of us on his shoulders.

Don't I appreciate Mom? Don't I remember all she dares and does in her modern role—bearing babies, sharing a job? Sure I appreciate her plenty—having been mother and job holder myself for over 40 years. But we mothers always have been appreciated although it wasn't written in the books. Maybe Dad loomed bigger in the law. But we were the ones who got the kisses and the flowers and the wreathes and the loving, sprawling letters.

Yep, we mothers have earned and won our wreathes. But today I'm honoring one who has won ten million pay checks but seldom felt a wreath about his brow.

I'M HONORING DAD.

And I know whereof I speak for life has held both man and woman jobs for me. And I'm telling you chum, that it takes as great a heart, as skilled a hand, as consecrated a brain to bring home the bacon as it ever does to bathe the baby.

That's a large statement. Some women won't like it. They don't like it because they have never lived it. But every father who is worthy of the name will be hep to what I mean—as my own Dad was before them.

We like to speak of the great American home . . . the united American family . . . the shining mother love that lights the way. And it's all true. But you can take this straight—

That home, that family, that devoted service and united love are just as much Dad's job as they are Mom's. The only difference between the two—and there isn't much difference now in 1947—is that Mom gets the spotlight and Dad gets the pay check. But when it comes to hitting the trail they are 50-50 together.

So there's the conclusion of one old girl concerning all the Dads that have been and are. Some of them made mistakes, of course. But taking them by and large they deserve an "E" for Excellence. Darn it, I wish I could make a speech. Instead I'm bawling out of love and honor and pride.

The only difference between the two—and there isn't much difference now in 1947—is that Mom gets the spotlight and Dad gets the pay check. But when it comes to hitting the trail they are 50-50 together.

So there's the conclusion of one old girl concerning all the Dads that have been and are. Some of them made mistakes, of course. But taking them by and large they deserve an "E" for Excellence. Darn it, I wish I could make a speech. Instead I'm bawling out of love and honor and pride.

Lumber Thieves Raid Saecrd Japan Forest

TOKYO (AP)—Lumber thieves have invaded hallowed groups—the forests at Momoyama, near Japan's ancient capital of Kyoto and site of the mausoleum of Emperor Meiji, Hirohito's grandfather, and many ancient rulers of Japan.

The thieves cut down the most trees around the mausoleum of Emperor Kammu, who lived over 1,000 years ago and who was the founder of Kyoto.

Father's Day Started In Ancient Greece

Father's Day, June 15, this year, began in ancient Greece when Zeus, father of the gods, and patron of human fathers received honors and gifts.

Zeus (who was also called Jupiter and Jove in other countries) was believed to rule the heavens and to be king of gods and men. Thunder was his weapon and the eagle his favorite bird, which carried the sacred thunderbolts. His worshippers bore gifts and offerings to his shrines all over Greece and Italy. In some Grecian temples the gifts were laid at the feet of beautiful chryselephantine (ivory and gold) statues of the God Zeus.

In China, two father's days are celebrated, in the spring and autumn respectively. The sons visit the the tombs of their forefathers and then upon returning home serve a feast for their own fathers and bring them gifts.

Father's Day was first celebrated in the United States in 1910, and its creation was suggested by a mother, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, Wash. She felt the need for a special day of honor to father —"to call attention to father's place in the home, the training of the children, the safeguarding of the marriage tie, the protection of womanhood and childhood. . ."

Mrs. Dodd presented her thoughts in a letter to the Spokane Ministers' Alliance, which favorably received it, and, together with the aid of the Spokane Y. W. C. A., the Father's Day idea was put into action. Spokane was the first city to set aside a day to honor Father, but the custom soon achieved national prominence.

"Honor Dad—builder of our children's future" is the 1947 Father's Day theme being stressed by the National Father's Day Committee this year.

The custom of bringing a gift as a token of homage is as old as the first known observance by the Greek people to Zeus. In various times and countries it has ranged from a cluster of grapes to the most elaborate jeweled garments. It was the sentiment that the token conveyed that mattered.

While in other ages it had other meanings, today it is frankly a sentimental occasion. The father of the toddler is as pleased with a handkerchief or an inexpensive gift from his high school son or daughter, as he is later with an expensive present after they've gone out into the world and earned their way.

Graduates, with nothing to do but go out and take over the world, seem undecided whether they want it.

Flag Still Flies

To all the winds Our Country's Banner!
Be every bar, and every star,

—Abraham Coles

The nation observes another Flag Day and everywhere the Stars and Stripes flies from staffs atop public and business buildings, it ripples up and down the avenues, it is in the front widows of shop and home. It is there on the lawns and porches of all the town and countryside.

A few Americans seem to give little notice. Others pause and give thought to the meaning of Flag Day and a few to the special significance of this Flag Day of 1947.

Today Americans are privileged to gaze upon their country's banner in all these places without let or hindrance. They take it for granted. But only two years ago the display of the flag was being purchased in blood on Okinawa. Freedom, along with the Stars and Stripes, was coming back to the Filipinos. Only a few months before, a great German lunge into the very heart of American armies had sent a stab of fear throughout this land.

As the Stars and Stripes waves in proud freedom only because of the victory purchased in blood so recently let every American resolve to become still more vigilant to thwart the forces—at home and abroad—that would lower Old Glory and raise the red banner of communism.

A child may dare—so drive with care.

Good Riddance

Sugar rationing, for housewives and restaurants, has finally emitted its last gasp and turned up its toes. Thank goodness. The bureaucrats tried their best to save it, but with warehouses bulging and disastrous sugar surplus in prospect, what could they do? They fought a rear-guard action for months, following the demise of the unlamented OPA, but mortal endurance has its limits.

Of course, bakers, candy manufacturers, etc., will continue to use sugar only as it is doled out to them. Economic royalists need not think that end of sugar rationing includes them, so there.

Of course, the fact that Congress was on the verge of killing sugar rationing has something to do with its taking-off at this particular time. If it hadn't been for Congress, the patient, though sorely sick, no doubt would have lingered for years. Except for Congress, sugar rationing might have become an issue in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Of that there is no possibility now. If any last lingering remnant of wartime bureaucracy is an issue in that campaign, it may well be rent control. Perhaps embattled property owners, tired of being dictated to by rent commissars in Washington, will form a third party in that campaign.

Right Of Succession

In a New York City suburb ten employes of a news distributing company have been fired because they do not belong to a newspaper deliverers' union. They are willing and eager to join, but they can't. The reason: They are not sons of union members.

The union and the news company have a contract which sets up not only a closed shop but a closed union. The right of succession is as fixed and unshakable as in the days of absolute monarchies.

No doubt the men will find other work. But still, it is rather an interesting tale at a time when we are being told that any change in existing labor laws and practices will mean the end of all workers' rights, the downfall of democracy and the beginning of American fascism.

TOO MANY RED BLOOD CELLS

HEALTHY individuals usually have between four to five million red corpuscles per cubic millimeter of blood. As a rule, men have a somewhat higher total than women. When the percentage is lower than it should be, anemia is said to exist; an overabundance means polycythemia.

The number of red cells may increase temporarily during dehydration. This dried out state can occur because of profuse perspiration thru violent exercise or exposure to a warm environment as well as in the presence of vomiting or diarrhea. After the fluid content of the body is replenished by drinking water, the count returns to normal.

Occasionally physicians encounter persons with a count of 6 to 12 million which is almost double the average figure. A congenital heart deformity or a specific lung disorder may be responsible. In addition, the finding is not uncommon at high altitudes.

In many instances, no cause can be found. The victim is not pale as in anemia, but dark because of the oversupply of coloring matter coursing thru the capillaries of the skin. This is most noticeable over the lips and ear lobes, which have a purplish hue. Some are unaware that the condition is present. Others feel dull and have little capacity for mental and physical work due to the increase in the amount of circulation flowing to the brain. Headaches, giddiness, ringing in the ears, and digestive upsets may be exhibited. Sometimes discomfort is so marked that insomnia results.

In the past, various methods of treatment were employed. Arsenic and phenylhydrazine were used to destroy the excess of red cells. Exposure to X-rays helped to discourage the formation of vital fluid. Bloodletting was done at frequent intervals. On the whole, these plans were unsatisfactory and at best offered only temporary relief.

When the cyclotron was invented, it became possible to make several chemicals radioactive. Thus each molecule became a miniature X-ray machine or could be likened to a particle of radium. When these substances were injected into human beings, the blood stream deposited them in certain organs. Iodine settled in the thyroid gland. Phosphorus reached the bones where the rays which were given off affected the tissues. Since the blood is manufactured in the bone marrow, radioactive phosphorus influenced this process and, when patients with polycythemia received the substance, the quota of the red cells began to drop.

Over 200 individuals have been treated and 90 per cent showed improvement. The regimen is effective only in cases where the origin of the abnormality is unknown. This is logical inasmuch as no one would expect to cure a heart or lung disturbance in this way. Several doses are often necessary. After the blood is restored to normal, symptoms generally subside.

DOUBLE VISION

E. O. writes: I have been troubled with an eye condition diagnosed as unbalanced muscles in both eyes, which causes double vision. Can you offer any suggestions for relief?

REPLY

The treatment and outlook would depend upon the type of defect present, how long it has existed, and whether you were born with the trouble or acquired it later. As a rule, muscle training (orthoptics), covering one eye with a patch, and glasses are some of the plans indicated.

BREATHING DIFFICULTY

H. A. writes: Why do I have to pant after smelling paint, ammonia, or kerosene?

REPLY

NOT NEEDED

H. G. writes: Do you have a cleansing diet?

REPLY

Is this part of your spring cleaning? Remember that soap is scarcer than food. No such procedure is necessary if we eat adequately and maintain proper bowel habits.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Restaurants in the East are very exclusive. You have to be a member of the Four Hundred to get in some of them. Member of the Four Hundred—that means you can afford to pay that much for one meal.

I dropped into one place and they really went in for elaborate service.

I asked to see the head waiter and they brought him in on a flaming sword.

I asked for water, and when they brought it even the glass was under glass.

And in all these exclusive eastern restaurants you have to pay a cover charge. It's quite a difference. In the type of restaurant I patronize in California you have to pay an "undercover charge."

And the prices they charge in the East are amazing. While you're looking up what you want on the menu, the waiter's looking you up in "Dun and Bradstreet."

I couldn't pay my bill so I wound up washing dishes. But I wasn't at all embarrassed. Rockefeller was drying them for me.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Unfortunately more and more Congressmen these days are concerned about getting re-elected, rather than public service. One who takes a refreshingly opposite position is young GOP Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon who last week made one of the most statesman-like speeches heard in the Senate in many months.

Even Morse's conservative foes admitted it.

The Oregonian's topic was "voting by conviction." Explaining his vote against the Taft-Hartley labor bill, Morse said that it was not contemplated by the founding fathers of our government that, under the representative system, "a man in the Senate of the United States should vote in accordance with the dictates of a majority as determined by a Gallup poll."

Rather, continued Morse, representative government requires a Senator to assume the "solemn obligation" of voting for legislation "he believes to be in the public interest, even though he knows that, as of that moment, a majority of his constituents would vote contrary to his judgment." If his judgment proves faulty, added Morse, the voters, at the next election, can oust a Senator guided by these principles.

"I think the people of my state want me to represent them by exercising an honest independence of judgment on the merits of issues as I find them back here," declared Morse. "They want me to cast my votes free of political pressures and unmoved by threats of loss of political support if I do not do the bidding of some pressure groups.

"If we cannot exercise that type of independence of judgment in states," the Oregon Senator concluded bluntly, "then I want to say that I do not want to serve in the Senate of the United States if I have to serve subject to yielding to the type of pressures that management and labor groups bring to bear upon the Senate for votes on this labor bill."

Note—The Senate's keenest legal mind, Morse was dean and professor of law at the University of Oregon for 13 years. He served as Chairman of the War Labor Board prior to his election to the Senate.

Economical Henry Wallace

Henry Wallace continues to receive the plaudits of the multitudes on his anti-Truman Doctrine tours. But one group of people who don't enthuse are the Pullman porters—at least, those who know Henry well.

"I'm a lucky man tonight," remarked one Pullman porter who didn't know Wallace. "I've got Henry Wallace in my car. He is a big man and I'll bet he's a big spender."

"Well," replied a second porter who had carried Wallace before, "I'm afraid you will find Mr. Wallace is all for the colored race but not for the individual. You'll be lucky if you get a quarter out of him."

Russian Money Scandal

They don't talk about it too loudly in the Pentagon, but the Army has been going to unusual lengths to cover up the approximate $950,000,000 shortage on its books as a result of loaning the Russians our currency plates to print German occupation marks.

For one thing, the War Department is now paying off German war prisoners who worked in the USA, in occupation marks instead of dollars. This should save the Army around $50,000,000 to be applied to the $950,000,000 shortage.

Also, American funds sent to private organizations in Germany are transferred to occupation marks. Thus the Army makes something on the exchange transaction, and this too is applied against the shortage. However, it will never be possible to make up the deficit of nearly one billion dollars lost when U. S. Army finance officers cashed Russian-printed occupation marks by the suitcase full.

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, who has been probing this, believes it is probably the chief financial scandal of the war.

Note—Decision to turn U. S. currency plates over to the Russians to print their occupation marks was made by top U. S. officials, some say at Yalta. However, the Russian-printed currency was easily distinguishable because of a zero printed in front of all serial numbers and it would have been easy for U. S. finance officers to have refused to cash it. As it was, Americans sold wrist watches for $1,000 in Russian paper, then converted the Russian paper into $1,000 U. S. currency. Profit: About $950.

Andy May's Machinations

The activities of ex-Congressman Andrew Jackson May of Kentucky continue to be amazing. In addition to the mass of evidence now being reviewed by a Federal jury, more and more of his machinations, both big and little, continue to leak out.

One of the Garsson war contractors now being tried along with May had a relative—Corp. Joseph Garsson—who, shortly before the war, was stationed with the Third Chemical Company laboratory at Edgewood Arsenal. On November 21, 1941, however, that company was scheduled to go overseas. So, suddenly, on November 1, just twenty days before it sailed, Corporal Garsson was mysteriously transferred to the Chemical Warfare School detachment at Edgewood Arsenal. This meant that he would stay at home—which he did.

It pays to know the Chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee.

By MARK SULLIVAN

Two actions of the Department of Agriculture—well, let the reader grasp for himself what they were and make his own deductions. Part of their significance lies in their coincidence, both were done on the same day, June 9.

One was announcement that the Department "recommended" a raise of 1 cent a quart in the price of milk in the New York area—two raises in fact, one to take place July 1, a further one October 1. The word "recommend" should not mislead. It merely means that before using the stronger word "order" the Department will hold hearings at which interested parties can appear. It can be taken for granted the orders will be issued, orders raising the price of milk are habitually issued in various ones of the some 30 milk areas in the country.

The other action was a meeting at the Department in Washington, presided over by Secretary Anderson and attended by invited officials of life insurance companies, bankers and others who lend money on farm mortgages. To these Secretary Anderson made an earnest address. He told them the prices of farms are extremely high and going higher, to a degree that contains danger of inflation. He asked his guests to use their positions to check the rise in farm prices, by not loaning money at high valuations, by persuading veterans and others not to buy farms at high prices, by all the influence they can exert.

Here is an extraordinary bifurcation. The prices of farms to be kept down—but the prices of farm products, milk and many others, to be kept up and pushed farther up.

The two cannot be bifurcated in fact, they are a twinship of cause and effect. The chief reason for high prices of farms is high prices of the crops which the farms produce. The one is a thermometer of the other. The Department of Agriculture makes the heat of farm crop prices hotter—but says the thermometer, prices of farm land, should be kept down.

In the Department's duplex attitude is a peculiar and vivid irony. The Department's raising of the price of milk and other farm crops is official, it is done by authority of government. But prevention of the effect, the restraint of prices of farms, is to be voluntary. The insurance company heads and bankers are by voluntary action to prevent the consequence of what the Department officially does.

This double attitude of the Department of Agriculture is a case of a government policy leading to a consequence not provided for. It is easy to see this case as ironic. But the whole practice and policy of the government in keeping up the prices of farm products, food, cannot be passed over as merely preposterous. One example, at this moment actively and expensively under way—the purchase of potatoes and destruction of some of those purchased for the avowed and specific purpose of keeping up the price—has been called "economic insanity."

It is not merely that keeping up prices of food works a cruel individual hardship, even deprivation. Twenty and twenty-one cents a quart for milk, to families having young children each of whom should have a quart a day, means upward of a dollar a day for this one item of food, as much as a tenth or more of the income of many city families. The policy is a basic cause of most of our economic ills, it is a dynamic mechanism keeping many of the ills in motion and making them spread. It works powerfully for inflation. It works toward collapse in Europe, which must get from us more food than it ever got before, at the highest price food ever was. The consequence of our price support policy, covering under varying conditions nearly all farm products, makes it at this time both a national and world-wide perversion and menace.

It is a governmental policy, embodied in statutes of Congress which direct the Secretary of Agriculture to carry it out. While he has some discretion as to methods and terms; while in the case of milk for example he can use his judgment about issuing orders fixing the price, the policy of stabilizing the price is embodied in a law passed by Congress. The several statutes which decree price support for nearly all farm products were enacted when the present condition was not foreseen. Some, enacted during the New Deal express a basic and permanent policy of price support for farm products. Others were enacted during the war to stimulate farm production and protect farmers against a possible post-war drop in prices, they remain in effect until dates in the future.

The whole situation, creating unforeseen and extremely dangerous consequences, causes discomfort and concern to the Secretary of Agriculture, as it does to others. Secretary Anderson has recommended that Congress overhaul the whole policy of price support and make needed changes. Hardly anything could be more essential for the country's economic health.

Veto Of Tax Bill Would Put Truman And Congress At Odds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 13—Entirely apart from the feeling of members of Congress that President Truman will be playing politics if he vetoes the Tax-Reductoin bill, there is a growing belief that it will be harder to persuade the American people to grant gifts or loans to Europe once the measure is killed.

There is a deep-seated feeling in the Middle West that the European countries should work out their own salvation anyway and that drains on the American Treasury cannot be limitless. Many Republicans who have been going along with Senator Vandenberg on the bi-partisan foreign policy have not enjoyed that course of action and have done so only because of a fidelity to his leadership.

The Michigan Senator has been telling the Administration, however, that he cannot keep the Republicans in line unless there is mutual respect and trust. Up to now many Republicans feel that the President has been playing politics even with the foreign situation and that the personalized emphasis on the phrase "Truman Doctrine"—after the Republicans agreed to the policy as bipartisan—has been merely a forerunner of an attempt to build up a crisis in international affairs to assist Mr. Truman's prospects of re-election in 1948.

However absurd these suspicions may be, it certainly will not be easy for many members of Congress to vote to help Europe with billions while the Truman bureaucrats keep on spending extravagantly at home and distributing billions abroad—all without reducing the domestic budget or giving the taxpayers the benefit of the savings that already have been made on the domestic budget.

Mr. Truman has refused to cooperate in reducing the budget. He has insisted on a high level of spending. The Republicans have voted this year to cut the budget substantially but they have encountered jeers from the Democrats who have been so accustomed to New Deal spending habits that they do not like to see any budget cuts made.

Now, when the President himself, since January last, has made a miscalculation on both receipts and expenditures and there is to be an excess of receipts over expenditures amounting to more than $1,250,000,000 for the present fiscal year ending June 30—although Mr. Truman predicted a deficit—it is natural for the Republicans to point out that the next budget will show a surplus many times larger and that this should be used in part for tax reduction and in part for debt reduction.

The argument of the President in the veto is expected to be based on the contention that all appropriation bills have not yet been passed by the Senate. Could it be that the administration hopes by the veto to encourage the Senate to restore cuts made by the House and to continue the high-level spending of the past?

The American people every day are learning more and more about their fiscal affairs. President Truman and Secretary Marshall will find it had to get a majority in Congress to support their requests for appropriations to help Europe if the tax bill is vetoed and there is no sign of any control on bureaucratic spending.

Incidentally, the stock market has started upward for the probable reason that the defeat of the tax-reduction measure may be the biggest single inflationary influence since V-J Day. If there is to be no tax reduction there will be, of course, little or no debt reduction either. For the real stimulus to cutting budgets comes from the modification of tax rates. If the administration is to postpone tax reduction to take effect in 1949, as seems to be the probable effect of a veto, there will be no impetus to debt reduction. If politics is going to prevent a realistic handling of the budget, America, on the long-range side, is in for a steady inflation.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

The Presidential Veto

In all the discussion as to whether the President will or will not veto certain bills, it needs to be made clear that the President of the United States, by Constitutional provision, has the right to veto bills passed by Congress. Article I, Section 7 provides:

"Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law . . ."

It also provides:

" . . . If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sunday excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law."

This provision gives the President legislative powers and is a check upon the Congress. Our system of government is one of checks and balances among the three branches of government and one may not interfere with the prerogatives of the other. Government by checks and balances is, at times, inefficient and time-wasting but it does safeguard our people from tyranny of the individual or of the majority.

The President has not often vetoed a tax measure. The Constitution specifically delegated to Congress the power to tax, the language of Article I, Section 8 reading in part:

"The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts . . . ; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform through the United States."

In recent years, there has been a tendency for the Executive to initiate fiscal measures, but Congress has this year reasserted its prerogative. Also, in recent years, taxes are no longer uniform, the Community Property arrangements giving some states an advantage over others. Furthermore, the Courts have held that certain taxes are not taxes at all, as, for instance, the "processing taxes" under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The President has no power to levy taxes, to prepare a budget, to expend money, to pay debts. He may make recommendations to Congress, as any citizen might, but the power rests with Congress. The President, however, may veto any bill, no matter whether it is passed by a majority of the elected representatives of the people. He need not even explain why he sets his judgement against theirs. He need only pursue his perogatives.

On the other hand, vetoes have often proved to be unpopular, the people feeling that the President has presumed to flout the common will. When that happens, the President risks defeat at the next election. Most vetoes, however, pass unnoted and there have been many in American history.

In England, the Prime Minister possesses no veto, although theoretically the King does, but the King would not dare use it. The Prime Minister is a member of Parliament, elected as such; our President is not a member of Congress. The Prime Minister is always the leader of the majority party in Parliament; the American President need not be that as, indeed, he is not today. In fact, a President may not even be in control of his own party as Herbert Hoover was not during the last year of his Administration.

The result is, in the United States, as it cannot be in England, that those who are elected to the national legislature on a specific platform and who form the majority may find the public will flouted by a President. Sometimes the public will shift and the President more nearly represents public opinion; most often, he merely is actuated by private judgment. It is a confusing system.

ON GROWING OLDER

If the process of the years has been one of development, enrichment of mind and heart, and a mellowing of the spirit, these should be the most precious of all as we grow older. Each of us journeys to a self-selected destination, and if it is satisfactorily reached, we can safely leave the verdict of our life to a higher power than any that may rest with us, or with others.

We all need to meditate upon those few lines by Robert Browning the poet, whose life was one of triumph to the very end. Said he:

"Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be.
The last of life, for which
the first was made."

The youth is concerned with beginnings. He is the experimenter. But as he matures he suddenly realizes how important it is to finish things, to complete tasks, thus rounding out his years. The early years are for growth and cultivation, the later ones for fruitage.

As we grow older our vision is keener. We see from greater heights, and over a multitude of experience. We have climbed mountains, surmounted great difficulties, and learned to appraise values. And by understanding ourselves in an ever increasing manner, we grow more tolerant and charitable toward others. We become more companiable—and easier on our friends as well!

The world is certainly a stage, as Shakespeare says, but it is far more. It is a great school, in which each of us selects his courses, pursues his studies, and perfects his way of life most satisfactorily to himself. God bequeathed to us the invaluable power of choice.

Things that seemed so important in our earlier years, grow less in importance, and the larger things loom in importance. The substantial becomes our mental and spiritual diet by which we live in greater measure and happiness. To grow old gracefully is to have learned the secret of a useful life.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree divorcing the plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the defendant.

The bill of complaint states that the plaintiff is a resident of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and that she and the defendant were married on the 8th day of July, 1945, and lived together as husband and wife until the 8th day of July, 1945, on which date the defendant deserted and abandoned the said plaintiff without just cause or reason, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. The bill further states that one infant child was born of said marriage, viz: Gary David Adams, and prays that the court grant the custody and guardianship of said infant child to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 6th day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff cause a copy of this order, with the object and substance of the bill of complaint, to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 8th day of July, 1947, giving notice to the said non-resident defendant to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of July, 1947; to show cause, if any there be, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Father's Day Started In Ancient Greece

Father's Day, June 15, this year, began in ancient Greece when Zeus, father of the gods, and patron of human fathers received honors and gifts.

Zeus (who was also called Jupiter and Jove in other countries) was believed to rule the heavens and to be king of gods and men. Thunder was his weapon and the eagle his favorite bird, which carried the sacred thunderbolts. His worshippers bore gifts and offerings to his shrines all over Greece and Italy. In some Grecian temples the gifts were laid at the feet of beautiful chryselephantine (ivory and gold) statues of the God Zeus.

In China, two father's days are celebrated, in the spring and autumn respectively. The sons visit the the tombs of their forefathers and then upon returning home serve a feast for their own fathers and bring them gifts.

Father's Day was first celebrated in the United States in 1910, and its creation was suggested by a mother, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, Wash. She felt the need for a special day of honor to father —"to call attention to father's place in the home, the training of the children, the safeguarding of the marriage tie, the protection of womanhood and childhood. . ."

Mrs. Dodd presented her thoughts in a letter to the Spokane Ministers' Alliance, which favorably received it, and, together with the aid of the Spokane Y. W. C. A., the Father's Day idea was put into action. Spokane was the first city to set aside a day to honor Father, but the custom soon achieved national prominence.

"Honor Dad—builder of our children's future" is the 1947 Father's Day theme being stressed by the National Father's Day Committee this year.

The custom of bringing a gift as a token of homage is as old as the first known observance by the Greek people to Zeus. In various times and countries it has ranged from a cluster of grapes to the most elaborate jeweled garments. It was the sentiment that the token conveyed that mattered.

While in other ages it had other meanings, today it is frankly a sentimental occasion. The father of the toddler is as pleased with a handkerchief or an inexpensive gift from his high school son or daughter, as he is later with an expensive present after they've gone out into the world and earned their way.

Graduates, with nothing to do but go out and take over the world, seem undecided whether they want it.

Flag Still Flies

To all the winds Our Country's Banner!
Be every bar, and every star,

—Abraham Coles

The nation observes another Flag Day and everywhere the Stars and Stripes flies from staffs atop public and business buildings, it ripples up and down the avenues, it is in the front widows of shop and home. It is there on the lawns and porches of all the town and countryside.

A few Americans seem to give little notice. Others pause and give thought to the meaning of Flag Day and a few to the special significance of this Flag Day of 1947.

Today Americans are privileged to gaze upon their country's banner in all these places without let or hindrance. They take it for granted. But only two years ago the display of the flag was being purchased in blood on Okinawa. Freedom, along with the Stars and Stripes, was coming back to the Filipinos. Only a few months before, a great German lunge into the very heart of American armies had sent a stab of fear throughout this land.

As the Stars and Stripes waves in proud freedom only because of the victory purchased in blood so recently let every American resolve to become still more vigilant to thwart the forces—at home and abroad—that would lower Old Glory and raise the red banner of communism.

A child may dare—so drive with care.

Good Riddance

Sugar rationing, for housewives and restaurants, has finally emitted its last gasp and turned up its toes. Thank goodness. The bureaucrats tried their best to save it, but with warehouses bulging and disastrous sugar surplus in prospect, what could they do? They fought a rear-guard action for months, following the demise of the unlamented OPA, but mortal endurance has its limits.

Of course, bakers, candy manufacturers, etc., will continue to use sugar only as it is doled out to them. Economic royalists need not think that end of sugar rationing includes them, so there.

Of course, the fact that Congress was on the verge of killing sugar rationing has something to do with its taking-off at this particular time. If it hadn't been for Congress, the patient, though sorely sick, no doubt would have lingered for years. Except for Congress, sugar rationing might have become an issue in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Of that there is no possibility now. If any last lingering remnant of wartime bureaucracy is an issue in that campaign, it may well be rent control. Perhaps embattled property owners, tired of being dictated to by rent commissars in Washington, will form a third party in that campaign.

Right Of Succession

In a New York City suburb ten employes of a news distributing company have been fired because they do not belong to a newspaper deliverers' union. They are willing and eager to join, but they can't. The reason: They are not sons of union members.

The union and the news company have a contract which sets up not only a closed shop but a closed union. The right of succession is as fixed and unshakable as in the days of absolute monarchies.

No doubt the men will find other work. But still, it is rather an interesting tale at a time when we are being told that any change in existing labor laws and practices will mean the end of all workers' rights, the downfall of democracy and the beginning of American fascism.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

TOO MANY RED BLOOD CELLS

HEALTHY individuals usually have between four to five million red corpuscles per cubic millimeter of blood. As a rule, men have a somewhat higher total than women. When the percentage is lower than it should be, anemia is said to exist; an overabundance means polycythemia.

The number of red cells may increase temporarily during dehydration. This dried out state can occur because of profuse perspiration thru violent exercise or exposure to a warm environment as well as in the presence of vomiting or diarrhea. After the fluid content of the body is replenished by drinking water, the count returns to normal.

Occasionally physicians encounter persons with a count of 6 to 12 million which is almost double the average figure. A congenital heart deformity or a specific lung disorder may be responsible. In addition, the finding is not uncommon at high altitudes.

In many instances, no cause can be found. The victim is not pale as in anemia, but dark because of the oversupply of coloring matter coursing thru the capillaries of the skin. This is most noticeable over the lips and ear lobes, which have a purplish hue. Some are unaware that the condition is present. Others feel dull and have little capacity for mental and physical work due to the increase in the amount of circulation flowing to the brain. Headaches, giddiness, ringing in the ears, and digestive upsets may be exhibited. Sometimes discomfort is so marked that insomnia results.

In the past, various methods of treatment were employed. Arsenic and phenylhydrazine were used to destroy the excess of red cells. Exposure to X-rays helped to discourage the formation of vital fluid. Bloodletting was done at frequent intervals. On the whole, these plans were unsatisfactory and at best offered only temporary relief.

When the cyclotron was invented, it became possible to make several chemicals radioactive. Thus each molecule became a miniature X-ray machine or could be likened to a particle of radium. When these substances were injected into human beings, the blood stream deposited them in certain organs. Iodine settled in the thyroid gland. Phosphorus reached the bones where the rays which were given off affected the tissues. Since the blood is manufactured in the bone marrow, radioactive phosphorus influenced this process and, when patients with polyeythemia received the substance, the quota of the red cells began to drop.

Over 200 individuals have been treated and 90 per cent showed improvement. The regimen is effective only in cases where the origin of the abnormality is unknown. This is logical inasmuch as no one would expect to cure a heart or lung disturbance in this way. Several doses are often necessary. After the blood is restored to normal, symptoms generally subside.

DOUBLE VISION

E. O. writes: I have been troubled with an eye condition diagnosed as unbalanced muscles in both eyes, which causes double vision. Can you offer any suggestions for relief?

REPLY

The treatment and outlook would depend upon the type of defect present, how long it has existed, and whether you were born with the trouble or acquired it later. As a rule, muscle training (orthoptics), covering one eye with a patch, and glasses are some of the plans indicated.

BREATHING DIFFICULTY

H. A. writes: Why do I have to pant after smelling paint, ammonia, or kerosene?

REPLY

NOT NEEDED

H. G. writes: Do you have a cleansing diet?

REPLY

Is this part of your spring cleaning? Remember that soap is scarcer than food. No such procedure is necessary if we eat adequately and maintain proper bowel habits.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Restaurants in the East are very exclusive. You have to be a member of the Four Hundred to get in some of them. Member of the Four Hundred—that means you can afford to pay that much for one meal.

I dropped into one place and they really went in for elaborate service.

I asked to see the head waiter and they brought him in on a flaming sword.

I asked for water, and when they brought it even the glass was under glass.

And in all these exclusive eastern restaurants you have to pay a cover charge. It's quite a difference. In the type of restaurant I patronize in California you have to pay an "undercover charge."

And the prices they charge in the East are amazing. While you're looking up what you want on the menu, the waiter's looking you up in "Dun and Bradstreet."

I couldn't pay my bill so I wound up washing dishes. But I wasn't at all embarrassed. Rockefeller was drying them for me.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Unfortunately more and more Congressmen these days are concerned about getting re-elected, rather than public service. One who takes a refreshingly opposite position is young GOP Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon who last week made one of the most statesman-like speeches heard in the Senate in many months.

Even Morse's conservative foes admitted it.

The Oregonian's topic was "voting by conviction." Explaining his vote against the Taft-Hartley labor bill, Morse said that it was not contemplated by the founding fathers of our government that, under the representative system, "a man in the Senate of the United States should vote in accordance with the dictates of a majority as determined by a Gallup poll."

Rather, continued Morse, representative government requires a Senator to assume the "solemn obligation" of voting for legislation "he believes to be in the public interest, even though he knows that, as of that moment, a majority of his constituents would vote contrary to his judgment." If his judgment proves faulty, added Morse, the voters, at the next election, can oust a Senator guided by these principles.

"I think the people of my state want me to represent them by exercising an honest independence of judgment on the merits of issues as I find them back here," declared Morse. "They want me to cast my votes free of political pressures and unmoved by threats of loss of political support if I do not do the bidding of some pressure groups.

"If we cannot exercise that type of independence of judgment in states," the Oregon Senator concluded bluntly, "then I want to say that I do not want to serve in the Senate of the United States if I have to serve subject to yielding to the type of pressures that management and labor groups bring to bear upon the Senate for votes on this labor bill."

Note—The Senate's keenest legal mind, Morse was dean and professor of law at the University of Oregon for 13 years. He served as Chairman of the War Labor Board prior to his election to the Senate.

Economical Henry Wallace

Henry Wallace continues to receive the plaudits of the multitudes on his anti-Truman Doctrine tours. But one group of people who don't enthuse are the Pullman porters—at least, those who know Henry well.

"I'm a lucky man tonight," remarked one Pullman porter who didn't know Wallace. "I've got Henry Wallace in my car. He is a big man and I'll bet he's a big spender."

"Well," replied a second porter who had carried Wallace before, "I'm afraid you will find Mr. Wallace is all for the colored race but not for the individual. You'll be lucky if you get a quarter out of him."

Russian Money Scandal

They don't talk about it too loudly in the Pentagon, but the Army has been going to unusual lengths to cover up the approximate $950,000,000 shortage on its books as a result of loaning the Russians our currency plates to print German occupation marks.

For one thing, the War Department is now paying off German war prisoners who worked in the USA, in occupation marks instead of dollars. This should save the Army around $50,000,000 to be applied to the $950,000,000 shortage.

Also, American funds sent to private organizations in Germany are transferred to occupation marks. Thus the Army makes something on the exchange transaction, and this too is applied against the shortage. However, it will never be possible to make up the deficit of nearly one billion dollars lost when U. S. Army finance officers cashed Russian-printed occupation marks by the suitcase full.

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, who has been probing this, believes it is probably the chief financial scandal of the war.

Note—Decision to turn U. S. currency plates over to the Russians to print their occupation marks was made by top U. S. officials, some say at Yalta. However, the Russian-printed currency was easily distinguishable because of a zero printed in front of all serial numbers and it would have been easy for U. S. finance officers to have refused to cash it. As it was, Americans sold wrist watches for $1,000 in Russian paper, then converted the Russian paper into $1,000 U. S. currency. Profit: About $950.

Andy May's Machinations

The activities of ex-Congressman Andrew Jackson May of Kentucky continue to be amazing. In addition to the mass of evidence now being reviewed by a Federal jury, more and more of his machinations, both big and little, continue to leak out.

One of the Garsson war contractors now being tried along with May had a relative—Corp. Joseph Garsson—who, shortly before the war, was stationed with the Third Chemical Company laboratory at Edgewood Arsenal. On November 21, 1941, however, that company was scheduled to go overseas. So, suddenly, on November 1, just twenty days before it sailed, Corporal Garsson was mysteriously transferred to the Chemical Warfare School detachment at Edgewood Arsenal. This meant that he would stay at home—which he did.

It pays to know the Chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee.

By MARK SULLIVAN

Two actions of the Department of Agriculture—well, let the reader grasp for himself what they were and make his own deductions. Part of their significance lies in their coincidence, both were done on the same day, June 9.

One was announcement that the Department "recommended" a raise of 1 cent a quart in the price of milk in the New York area—two raises in fact, one to take place July 1, a further one October 1. The word "recommend" should not mislead. It merely means that before using the stronger word "order" the Department will hold hearings at which interested parties can appear. It can be taken for granted the orders will be issued, orders raising the price of milk are habitually issued in various ones of the some 30 milk areas in the country.

The other action was a meeting at the Department in Washington, presided over by Secretary Anderson and attended by invited officials of life insurance companies, bankers and others who lend money on farm mortgages. To these Secretary Anderson made an earnest address. He told them the prices of farms are extremely high and going higher, to a degree that contains danger of inflation. He asked his guests to use their positions to check the rise in farm prices, by not loaning money at high valuations, by persuading veterans and others not to buy farms at high prices, by all the influence they can exert.

Here is an extraordinary bifurcation. The prices of farms to be kept down—but the prices of farm products, milk and many others, to be kept up and pushed farther up.

The two cannot be bifurcated in fact, they are a twinship of cause and effect. The chief reason for high prices of farms is high prices of the crops which the farms produce. The one is a thermometer of the other. The Department of Agriculture makes the heat of farm crop prices hotter—but says the thermometer, prices of farm land, should be kept down.

In the Department's duplex attitude is a peculiar and vivid irony. The Department's raising of the price of milk and other farm crops is official, it is done by authority of government. But prevention of the effect, the restraint of prices of farms, is to be voluntary. The insurance company heads and bankers are by voluntary action to prevent the consequence of what the Department officially does.

This double attitude of the Department of Agriculture is a case of a government policy leading to a consequence not provided for. It is easy to see this case as ironic. But the whole practice and policy of the government in keeping up the prices of farm products, food, cannot be passed over as merely preposterous. One example, at this moment actively and expensively under way—the purchase of potatoes and destruction of some of those purchased for the avowed and specific purpose of keeping up the price—has been called "economic insanity."

It is not merely that keeping up prices of food works a cruel individual hardship, even deprivation. Twenty and twenty-one cents a quart for milk, to families having young children each of whom should have a quart a day, means upward of a dollar a day for this one item of food, as much as a tenth or more of the income of many city families. The policy is a basic cause of most of our economic ills, it is a dynamic mechanism keeping many of the ills in motion and making them spread. It works powerfully for inflation. It works toward collapse in Europe, which must get from us more food than it ever got before, at the highest price food ever was. The consequence of our price support policy, covering under varying conditions nearly all farm products, makes it at this time both a national and world-wide perversion and menace.

It is a governmental policy, embodied in statutes of Congress which direct the Secretary of Agriculture to carry it out. While he has some discretion as to methods and terms; while in the case of milk for example he can use his judgment about issuing orders fixing the price, the policy of stabilizing the price is embodied in a law passed by Congress. The several statutes which decree price support for nearly all farm products were enacted when the present condition was not foreseen. Some, enacted during the New Deal express a basic and permanent policy of price support for farm products. Others were enacted during the war to stimulate farm production and protect farmers against a possible post-war drop in prices, they remain in effect until dates in the future.

The whole situation, creating unforeseen and extremely dangerous consequences, causes discomfort and concern to the Secretary of Agriculture, as it does to others. Secretary Anderson has recommended that Congress overhaul the whole policy of price support and make needed changes. Hardly anything could be more essential for the country's economic health.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 13—Entirely apart from the feeling of members of Congress that President Truman will be playing politics if he vetoes the Tax-Reductoin bill, there is a growing belief that it will be harder to persuade the American people to grant gifts or loans to Europe once the measure is killed.

There is a deep-seated feeling in the Middle West that the European countries should work out their own salvation anyway and that drains on the American Treasury cannot be limitless. Many Republicans who have been going along with Senator Vandenberg on the bi-partisan foreign policy have not enjoyed that course of action and have done so only because of a fidelity to his leadership.

The Michigan Senator has been telling the Administration, however, that he cannot keep the Republicans in line unless there is mutual respect and trust. Up to now many Republicans feel that the President has been playing politics even with the foreign situation and that the personalized emphasis on the phrase "Truman Doctrine"—after the Republicans agreed to the policy as bi-partisan—has been merely a forerunner of an attempt to build up a crisis in international affairs to assist Mr. Truman's prospects of re-election in 1948.

However absurd these suspicions may be, it certainly will not be easy for many members of Congress to vote to help Europe with billions while the Truman bureaucrats keep on spending extravagantly at home and distributing billions abroad—all without reducing the domestic budget or giving the taxpayers the benefit of the savings that already have been made on the domestic budget.

Mr. Truman has refused to cooperate in reducing the budget. He has insisted on a high level of spending. The Republicans have voted this year to cut the budget substantially but they have encountered jeers from the Democrats who have been so accustomed to New Deal spending habits that they do not like to see any budget cuts made.

Now, when the President himself, since January last, has made a miscalculation on both receipts and expenditures and there is to be an excess of receipts over expenditures amounting to more than $1,250,000,000 for the present fiscal year ending June 30—although Mr. Truman predicted a deficit—it is natural for the Republicans to point out that the next budget will show a surplus many times larger and that this should be used in part for tax reduction and in part for debt reduction.

The argument of the President in the veto is expected to be based on the contention that all appropriation bills have not yet been passed by the Senate. Could it be that the administration hopes by the veto to encourage the Senate to restore cuts made by the House and to continue the high-level spending of the past?

The American people every day are learning more and more about their fiscal affairs. President Truman and Secretary Marshall will find it had to get a majority in Congress to support their requests for appropriations to help Europe if the tax bill is vetoed and there is no sign of any control on bureaucratic spending.

Incidentally, the stock market has started upward for the probable reason that the defeat of the tax-reduction measure may be the biggest single inflationary influence since V-J Day. If there is to be no tax reduction there will be, of course, little or no debt reduction either. For the real stimulus to cutting budgets comes from the modification of tax rates. If the administration is to postpone tax reduction to take effect in 1949, as seems to be the probable effect of a veto, there will be no impetus to debt reduction. If politics is going to prevent a realistic handling of the budget, America, on the long-range side, is in for a steady inflation.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

The Presidential Veto

In all the discussion as to whether the President will or will not veto certain bills, it needs to be made clear that the President of the United States, by Constitutional provision, has the right to veto bills passed by Congress. Article I, Section 7 provides:

"Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law . . . "

It also provides:

" . . . If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sunday excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law."

This provision gives the President legislative powers and is a check upon the Congress. Our system of government is one of checks and balances among the three branches of government and one may not interfere with the prerogatives of the other. Government by checks and balances is, at times, inefficient and time-wasting but it does safeguard our people from tyranny of the individual or of the majority.

The President has not often vetoed a tax measure. The Constitution specifically delegated to Congress the power to tax, the language of Article I, Section 8 reading in part:

"The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts . . . ; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform through the United States."

In recent years, there has been a tendency for the Executive to initiate fiscal measures, but Congress has this year reasserted its prerogative. Also, in recent years, taxes are no longer uniform, the Community Property arrangements giving some states an advantage over others. Furthermore, the Courts have held that certain taxes are not taxes at all, as, for instance, the "processing taxes" under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The President has no power to levy taxes, to prepare a budget, to expend money, to pay debts. He may make recommendations to Congress, as any citizen might, but the power rests with Congress. The President, however, may veto any bill, no matter whether it is passed by a majority of the elected representatives of the people. He need not even explain why he sets his judgement against theirs. He need only pursue his perogatives.

On the other hand, vetoes have often proved to be unpopular, the people feeling that the President has presumed to flout the common will. When that happens, the President risks defeat at the next election. Most vetoes, however, pass unnoted and there have been many in American history.

In England, the Prime Minister possesses no veto, although theoretically the King does, but the King would not dare use it. The Prime Minister is a member of Parliament, elected as such; our President is not a member of Congress. The Prime Minister is always the leader of the majority party in Parliament; the American President need not be that as, indeed, he is not today. In fact, a President may not even be in control of his own party as Herbert Hoover was not during the last year of his Administration.

The result is, in the United States, as it cannot be in England, that those who are elected to the national legislature on a specific platform and who form the majority may find the public will flouted by a President. Sometimes the public will shift and the President more nearly represents public opinion; most often, he merely is actuated by private judgment. It is a confusing system.

ON GROWING OLDER

If the process of the years has been one of development, enrichment of mind and heart, and a mellowing of the spirit, these should be the most precious of all as we grow older. Each of us journeys to a self-selected destination, and if it is satisfactorily reached, we can safely leave the verdict of our life to a higher power than any that may rest with us, or with others.

We all need to meditate upon those few lines by Robert Browning the poet, whose life was one of triumph to the very end. Said he:

"Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be.
The last of life, for which
the first was made."

The youth is concerned with beginnings. He is the experimenter. But as he matures he suddenly realizes how important it is to finish things, to complete tasks, thus rounding out his years. The early years are for growth and cultivation, the later ones for fruitage.

As we grow older our vision is keener. We see from greater heights, and over a multitude of experience. We have climbed mountains, surmounted great difficulties, and learn to appraise values. And by understanding ourselves in an ever increasing manner, we grow more tolerant and charitable toward others. We become more companiable—and easier on our friends as well!

The world is certainly a stage, as Shakespeare says, but it is far more. It is a great school, in which each of us selects his courses, pursues his studies, and perfects his way of life most satisfactorily to himself. God bequeathed to us the invaluable power of choice.

Things that seemed so important in our earlier years, grow less in importance, and the larger things loom in importance. The substantial becomes our mental and spiritual diet by which we live in greater measure and happiness. To grow old gracefully is to have learned the secret of a useful life.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree divorcing the plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the defendant.

The bill of complaint states that the plaintiff is a resident of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and that she and the defendant were married on the 8th day of July, 1945, and lived together as husband and wife until the 8th day of July, 1945, on which date the defendant deserted and abandoned the said plaintiff without just cause or reason, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. The bill further states that one infant child was born of said marriage, viz: Gary David Adams, and prays that the court grant the custody and guardianship of said infant child to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 6th day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff cause a copy of this order, with the object and substance of the bill of complaint, to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 8th day of July, 1947, giving notice to the said non-resident defendant to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of July, 1947; to show cause, if any there be, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Miss Davis Enters Beauty Pageant

In spite of the fact that most Cumberlanders consider themselves Yankees, even though Maryland is located below the Mason-Dixon line, one of the latest contestants in the Miss Cumberland Beauty Pageant will be in a position to represent the state as a belle of the Sunny South if she is successful in getting by the Miss Cumberland and Miss Maryland competition and going on to the September Atlantic City Miss America Pageant.

She is Miss Mildred Davis, 512 Frederick Street, and she hails from Franklin County, Virginia. Unlike the blonde, shrinking-violet type of Southern girl usually portrayed in the movies, Miss Davis is tall and stately, with dark hair and eyes. She was a trifle shy about entering the Miss Cumberland Pageant, however, until persuaded by Manager Francis A. Kenny and others of the staff of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board that she had the necessary qualifications.

Miss Davis is employed as a receptionist and typist at the Maryland State Employment Service office, Union Street. Although she has resided in Cumberland for the past five years, she has retained a soft southern drawl and a distinct taste for corn pone, Virginia ham and southern fried chicken.

Three of the entrants in the local pageant will receive a ride in the Goodyear blimp at the Cumberland Municipal Airport Sunday morning. The three will be chosen by an impartial means of selection.

All entries for the Miss Cumberland Pageant must be in by midnight tonight. Entry blanks may be obtained at Room 514, Liberty Trust Building, the Maryland Theater box office and Rosenbaum's fourth-floor studio.

Residents of Grant Street, Cresaptown, asked the County Commissioners yesterday for immediate grading of the thoroughfare, claiming it has become impassable in rainy weather, and rain water drains into their cellars. James Burkhart asked the county to have repairs made to a section of Braddock Road and Charles Yeargen requested construction of a bridge across Town Creek.

ing the war. There are several more, maybe not so well known to the world, Platt explained but to him they are good friends because they aided and befriended him during the war years.

In planning his summer trip, Platt yesterday recalled some of the highlights of his first musical tour of Europe. On the humorous side—now but not then—was a command performance for the late Gen. George Patton, "We, (the band), had no leggings," Platt recalled, "and after the show the general summoned me to his office and wanted to know why the outfit was not in uniform." It was a rough hour in the General's office but the band completed a 10-day stay in the general's Third Army area "and we didn't wear leggings," Platt said.

In Denmark, the band gave a special performance for King Christian X, who recently died, and received his royal praise. General Charles deGaulle, commander of the French Army, also heard the music of Jack Platt's band with warm praise when he heard it in France.

Platt said the band once made a trip into Greece, to entertain Allied soldiers and do several benefit concerts for war orphans. It was the first American band to enter the country in nine years, he explained.

In all the band entertained over a million Allied soldiers and presented 300 broadcasts over the Armed Forces Networks, and was instrumental in raising $10,000 for crippled children while the March of Dimes campaign was being conducted among the American soldiers serving in Europe.

The last performance given by the band under Platt's direction was on February 1, 1946 when M. Felix Gouion, then president of France made one of his rare public appearances and attended the opening dance for the March of Dimes campaign in the George V Hotel, Paris.

The president's appearance created a national stir, Platt recalled, and most of the news reel services from this country had photographers covering the dance. Four days later pictures of the band, the president and Eric von Stroeheim, movie actor, noted for his Nazi characterizations in American movies, along with the huge crowds that attended the dance were showing on Cumberland movie house screens, and Platt admitted it made him very happy.

Platt returned to this country for discharge in March, 1946 and was immediately appointed supervisor of music in Allegany County. He said he has every intention of returning to the position this fall.

Celanese Strike

pany knows that every plant in the industry closes down its Textile Department on Sunday, except Cumberland. The Celanese Company in its Rome, Ga., plant normally stops production at noon on Saturday. We know of no reason why the Celanese Corporation cannot, after careful study and planning, at a reasonable cost, follow the same policy in Cumberland that it follows in Rome.

"Mr. Small states that the union has presented no demands for Saturday and Sunday premium pay at other plants of the Celanese Corporation or anywhere else in the industry. This statement is incorrect. I, personally, presented the union's demand at the Rome plant. Included in the demands which I presented were the same demands for premium pay for Saturday and Sunday that were presented in Cumberland. I also personally presented the demands to the Industrial Rayon Corporation, one of the company's major competitors. Included in those demands were premium pay for Saturday and Sunday. In every single contract open at the present time, the union has presented this same problem.

Nothing To Fear

"The company has refused to arbitrate the issues in dispute. Its excuse is that the union demands are 'extravagant' and 'ridiculous'. If the company's charge is correct that the union's demands are unreasonable, then what reason is there to fear arbitration? Certainly a board of experienced arbitrators, after hearing the aguments, would be able to judge the merits of both the company and the union's presentation.

"It is little wonder that the strike occurred and that it continues, when negotiations with the policy making officials of the company must be conducted by teletype and telephone through a third party. In fairness to the people of Cumberland, the policy making officials of the company should come to Cumberland to study the problems first hand and to participate in the negotiations for their solution," Cook concluded.

pany knows that every plant in the industry closes down its Textile Department on Sunday, except Cumberland. The Celanese Company in its Rome, Ga., plant normally stops production at noon on Saturday. We know of no reason why the Celanese Corporation cannot, after careful study and planning, at a reasonable cost, follow the same policy in Cumberland that it follows in Rome.

"Mr. Small states that the union has presented no demands for Saturday and Sunday premium pay at other plants of the Celanese Corporation or anywhere else in the industry. This statement is incorrect. I, personally, presented the union's demand at the Rome plant. Included in the demands which I presented were the same demands for premium pay for Saturday and Sunday that were presented in Cumberland. I also personally presented the demands to the Industrial Rayon Corporation, one of the company's major competitors. Included in those demands were premium pay for Saturday and Sunday. In every single contract open at the present time, the union has presented this same problem.

Nothing To Fear

"The company has refused to arbitrate the issues in dispute. Its excuse is that the union demands are 'extravagant' and 'ridiculous'. If the company's charge is correct that the union's demands are unreasonable, then what reason is there to fear arbitration? Certainly a board of experienced arbitrators, after hearing the aguments, would be able to judge the merits of both the company and the union's presentation.

"It is little wonder that the strike occurred and that it continues, when negotiations with the policy making officials of the company must be conducted by teletype and telephone through a third party. In fairness to the people of Cumberland, the policy making officials of the company should come to Cumberland to study the problems first hand and to participate in the negotiations for their solution," Cook concluded.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Her Boy Friend Objects To Dances And Her Going Out With Others

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Up until two weeks ago, I was going steady with a fellow whom I love very much. There were two things that I did, however, to which he objected. These were to go to dances, and, also, to go out with another fellow. But I only went out with him once, and he was a Marine home on furlough.

I did not think I was doing anything wrong to go to the dances, as I never pick anyone up there and no one ever escorted me home from there. But my boy friend told me that I would have to make a choice to go steady with him or I could go to dances and out with this other fellow when he was home. I agreed not to go out with anybody else, but I couldn't see not going to dances. So he said that he saw no reason for us to go steady any more. I said all right and we parted friends, but now I find that I miss him very much and love him more than I ever did. Would you advise me to look for someone else, or should I call this fellow up and ask him to forgive me? "K.M.J."

Dear "K.M.J.":

I don't see any reason for your calling up this young man and asking him to forgive you. It seems to me he was being very narrow-minded in objecting to your going out once with a boy who was home on furlough, and I cannot see any objection, either, to your going to an occasional dance without him, if the dance is held under proper circumstances and you were not just going to some dance hall and dancing with strange men you happened to meet there. Of course, if the latter were the case, I would certainly expect your boy friend to object.

Iq don't believe that you are as much in love with this chap as you think, because, if you were, I imagine that "going steady" would mean to you that he was the only one you wanted to go around with. I suggest that you just let things ride as they are and see what happens.

Start With A Reducing Program

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 17 and very self-conscious because I am rather fat. My girl friends are a different type, and every time we meet some new fellows, they always have all the fun. I just can't seem to overcome my bashfulness and when I have a date, I can't think of anything to say.

What can I do to overcome my shyness? I would appreciate it if you would help me. "BASHFUL"

Dear "Bashful":

I think the first thing you had better do is to overcome your stoutness before worrying about your shyness. Somehow, I imagine that if you made an effort to reduce and got yourself an alluringly slim figure, the resulting self-confidence you would achieve would go a long way toward helping you overcome your bashfulness. As things are now, you undoubtedly feel that you look unattractive and so that makes you unsure of yourself.

What abot taking a course of exercises at your Y.W.C.A., or asking your gymnasium teacher at school to help you work out a regime you can follow yourself? As for a reducing diet, that is something you should not attempt without a doctor's advice, and you could ask your family physician to give you one that would be suited to your needs.

Then be sure you always look neat and as smart as possible; that your hair is done prettily and you don't use too much makeup. Also, that what you do use is put on properly.

When you have done all this, if you still feel bashful, let me know and I will make some further suggestions.

Elks Membership Doubled Since 1941

According to statistics received by Marcellus Mullan, Exalted Ruler of B. P. O. Elks, Cumberland Lodge No. 63, from officials of the Grand Lodge, the national membership of the Elks organization has been doubled since Pearl Harbor. The present total is 900,000.

The Cumberland Lodge, which has restricted its membership to a lower percentage of the city's population than other communities, has had only a 10 percent increase in the same period of time. Most of the new members of No. 63 are World War II veterans. The local organization had 600 members in 1940 and now has 650.

Virginia Area

Mayor G. P. Morison, of Charles Town, W. Va., received a report that a plane had crashed between Harpers Ferry, W. Va., and Hillsboro, and sent officers to investigate.

Maryland State Police at Brunswick, Md., also had a report of a crash "17 miles south." This would be in the vicinity of Hillsboro.

After cruising a 15-mile section along the Maryland-Virginia line, Maryland State Police reported they had been able to "find out little."

As authorities pieced together all these reports, they expressed growing belief that they might have established the general area of a crash.

When the plane last reported to Washington airport, it was over Martinsburg, W. Va., about 65 miles out of Washington. The time was 6:13 p. m. There was nothing to indicate that the big transport was in trouble then.

Crew Members Identified

Capital Airlines identified the pilot of the missing plane as Horace Stark of Washington. The co-pilot was R. N. Creekmore, and the hostess Peggy Walls, both also of Washington.

The plane was the same type which figured in two major air disasters recently.

Forty-two persons died at New York's LaGuardia Field May 27 when a DC-4 crashed during a takeoff. A day later a similar type plane crashed at Port Deposit, Md., killing 53 persons.

The planes figuring in the New York and Maryland accidents, as well as the missing Capital airliner, had been converted from Army C-54s.

Virginia Area

Mayor G. P. Morison, of Charles Town, W. Va., received a report that a plane had crashed between Harpers Ferry, W. Va., and Hillsboro, and sent officers to investigate.

Maryland State Police at Brunswick, Md., also had a report of a crash "17 miles south." This would be in the vicinity of Hillsboro.

After cruising a 15-mile section along the Maryland-Virginia line, Maryland State Police reported they had been able to "find out little."

As authorities pieced together all these reports, they expressed growing belief that they might have established the general area of a crash.

When the plane last reported to Washington airport, it was over Martinsburg, W. Va., about 65 miles out of Washington. The time was 6:13 p. m. There was nothing to indicate that the big transport was in trouble then.

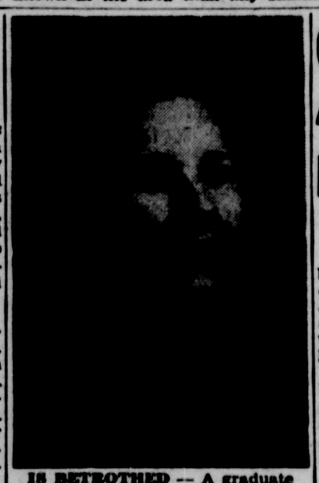

Crew Members Identified

Capital Airlines identified the pilot of the missing plane as Horace Stark of Washington. The co-pilot was R. N. Creekmore, and the hostess Peggy Walls, both also of Washington.

The plane was the same type which figured in two major air disasters recently.

Forty-two persons died at New York's LaGuardia Field May 27 when a DC-4 crashed during a takeoff. A day later a similar type plane crashed at Port Deposit, Md., killing 53 persons.

The planes figuring in the New York and Maryland accidents, as well as the missing Capital airliner, had been converted from Army C-54s

The humble TODAY that makes TOMORROW GREAT...

You could see this scene in a hundred thousand churches next Sunday—but would you grasp its mighty import?

If you saw a lump of iron ore would you envision bridges of steel spanning America's rivers . . . if you saw a gushing oil well would you envision a million cars speeding along our highways . . . if you saw a bag of seed would you envision golden acres awaiting the harvest?

It is the humble today that makes tomorrow great. For few gifts have come to us ready-made. God has made every blessing a challenge . . . every resource a responsibility.

Our children are our greatest challenge — our paramount responsibility. For God's — and the world's — tomorrow will spring from their humble today. The Church understands that!

Your child — every child — needs the Church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

The humble TODAY that makes TOMORROW GREAT...

You could see this scene in a hundred thousand churches next Sunday—but would you grasp its mighty import?

If you saw a lump of iron ore would you envision bridges of steel spanning America's rivers . . . if you saw a gushing oil well would you envision a million cars speeding along our highways . . . if you saw a bag of seed would you envision golden acres awaiting the harvest?

It is the humble today that makes tomorrow great. For few gifts have come to us ready-made. God has made every blessing a challenge . . . every resource a responsibility.

Our children are our greatest challenge — our paramount responsibility. For God's — and the world's — tomorrow will spring from their humble today. The Church understands that!

Your child — every child — needs the Church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Powers Receives Babst Athletic Award

Allegany High's Four Sports Star Earns Gold Watch

"Tommy" Annexes Five Senior Prizes

Noyes Thompson "Tommy" Powers, Allegany High School's all-around athlete, who performed brilliantly in track and field, football, basketball and baseball for Blue and White teams, was presented the Babst Award—a gold watch donated by Charles H. Babst, an AHS alumnus, now employed by the Celanese Corporation, New York City—at Allegany's commencement exercises last night.

Powers became the twenty-first Allegany High School senior to win the annual prize which was first won by Randolph Millholland in 1926.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Marian T. Powers of 505 Washington street, has been an important figure in athletics at the Campobello school since he came here from Indiana with his parents and entered the 9th grade.

Won Eight Letters

The Babst Award goes annually to a senior for superiority in athletic leadership and Noyes Powers earned it as well as the good wishes of his many friends. He won three letters in baseball, two in basketball, two in football and one in track.

In football he was a reserve back in 1944. The following year he was regular fullback for Allegany's city championship team and had the misfortune to suffer a broken leg in the Thanksgiving Day game with Fort Hill. This injury kept him out of basketball in his junior year but last season he served as forward and co-captain of Allegany's championship cage team.

Powers excelled in the high and broad jumps and relay events in track and field while in baseball he started as a shortstop.

Captures Five Prizes

Mathematics Award of $5, donated by Franklin C. Ankeney.

AHS ACE HONORED—Noyes Thompson "Tommy" Powers, Allegany High School's four sports star, is shown being presented the Charles H. Babst Award — a gold watch — by Principal Ralph R. Webster at the commencement exercises of Allegany High School last night. The Camper's grid, baseball, basketball and track and field ace is the twenty-first athlete to win the prize which has been offered annually since 1926. Powers earned four other awards which were presented to him last night.

Ed Goes On Spree

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 13 (AP) —"Lucky Ed," a horse entered in the second race at Narragansett Park, broke away from handlers at the starting gate this afternoon, vaulted the track fence, raced through the parking lot and out into Newport Avenue, Rumford.

While East Providence police were mounting an organized hunt, Owner A. R. Famiglietti took after his animal in his auto, finally overtaking it a mile or more from the track. "Lucky Ed" was returned to the stables apparently unhurt.

Phalanx Favored In Dwyer Stakes

$50,000 Race Is Set For Aqueduct Today

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 13—The Phalanx cheering and chowder society, which finally got something to holler about when their stretch-sizzler won the Belmont, will find out in the Dwyer tomorrow whether he can make it stick on the other three year olds.

As a matter of fact, the way the Dwyer lined up at the entry box in the secretary's office at Aqueduct today, this mile-and-a-quarter figures to be made to order for the gentleman from Virginia.

Neither Jet Pilot, his conqueror in the Kentucky Derby, nor Faultless, who ran away from him in the Preakness, will be on hand to throw a pitch at the $40,800 Dwyer paycheck. Then Aqueduct's quarter-mile long stretch figures to be just the right size to give Phalanx room to turn loose his closing lightning.

On top of that, the size of the field—nine—isn't big enough to get him into trouble. And there just doesn't appear to be any other gee-gee in it who has indicated up to now that he can carry Phalanx's shoes, in spite of the 126-pound top-weight the Virginian will be toting.

Steering him will be Chilean Ruperto Donoso, who replaced Eddie Arcaro aboard the colt in the Belmont and piloted him home on top all by himself. As a result, the Dwyer slice, along with his $190,835 bankroll as of right now, figures to put Phalanx well over the $200,000 mark.

Best-liked of the others is another Virginian, Brabancon, who wearied at the king-size mile-and-a-half at Belmont, but who turned in the sharpest Dwyer workout of them all this week.

Metz And Harbert Lead In National Open Golf

Post 139s And Lead Worsham By Stroke

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (AP)—Dick Metz of Chicago and Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Detroit stood a stroke in front of the field tonight at the halfway point in the National Open Golf Championship, and the rush of the homebred stars to have themselves fitted for plus-fours appeared at least to have been stemmed.

Bobby Locke, the short-pants menace from South Africa, at last proved himself fallible on the greens as he shot over-par golf for the first time in 30 consecutive rounds in this country and fell three strokes behind the pace-setters. It still was a wide-open championship, with almost anything likely to happen in tomorrow's final 36-holes.

Metz, the firmly-muscled ex-Texan, and Harbert, one of the game's longest drivers, were deadlocked with record-equalling totals of 139 after two rounds of the par-71 St. Louis Country Club course. Only one blow behind was Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., at 140.

Metz, participant the past winter in a much-publicized incident in which Freddy Corcoran, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' Association, was punched and hospitalized out in California, added a 70 today to his 69 of yesterday to grab the co-leadership with Harbert.

Harbert, with every chance to take a commanding lead, blew up on the last four holes today to score a 72 and wind up square with Metz. He was one of three players who shot brilliant 67's yesterday. The other two, Henry Ransom of Chicago and Harry Todd of Dallas, faded somewhat in today's sun and wind.

Pittsburgh Gives Up On Behrman; Returns Pitcher To Brooklyn

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today gave up on Pitcher Hank Behrman, part of the five-player "prize package" obtained in a deal with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and returned the slim right-hander to Brooklyn.

Behrman's return, under an agreement made at the time of the deal, was announced by Pirate General Manager Roy Hamey. The Pirates will obtain a refund not announced but estimated at $50,000. Behrman appeared in 10 Pirate games, pitched 24⅔ innings, gave 33 hits and 17 walks and was charged with two losses against no wins.

The Brooklyn "package" brought to the Pirates was said to have cost in the neighborhood of $200,000. It also included Pitchers Kirby Higbe and Cal McLish, Infielder Gene Mauch and Catcher Homer Howell. Only Higbe, Howell and Mauch remain. McLish was sent to Albany under option.

Fusari Defeated By Tony Pellone

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP) —Young Tony Pellone, a toughie from downtown New York who wasn't given a chance, ended Charley Fusari's gaudy all-winning streak at 48 straight tonight by roughing and mauling his way to a ten-round decision in Madison Square Garden. Both weighed 145¾.

Pellone came from far back after Fusari piled up a towering edge through the first eight rounds to catch the eye of one judge and Referee Arthur Donovan, although the other judge balloted for Fusari. The Associated Press score card voted for Fusari, six rounds to three, with one even, giving the swift swatter from Irvington, N. J. Six of the first eight rounds.

Boston Gets 14 Hits, Scores 6-2 Triumph

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—The Boston Braves' good humor man, Charles (Red) Barrett, took his pitching chores seriously again today and throttled the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2, before 6,341 fans.

Barrett, who pitched a one-hitter against the Chicago Cubs his last time out, limited the Pirates to six blows today and joined lustily in the Braves' 14-hit attack on Truett (Rip) Sewell and Art Herring by punching out two doubles and scoring twice. Box:

CUBS WIN 4TH IN ROW

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs beat their Philadelphia "cousins" again today, 4 to 3, for the eighth straight time this season and the seventh time by one run, and the Cubs moved within a half game of the league-leading New York Giants, who were idle.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Cubs.

Hank Borowy edged Charley Schanz in a slug duel for his seventh victory. Borowy allowed eight hits, fanned six and walked three while the big Philly righthander yielded nine hits, fanned five and walked five. An unearned run in the sixth uneventfully proved decisive. Box:

The North End Social and Athletic Club snapped the ten-game winning streak of Lacy's Delicatets by the score of 3 to 2 in a City Softball League game yesterday at Stitcher Field.

By winning the NESA Club tossers extended their victory streak to four games. The North Enders have won six out of their last seven games played.

Stallings Wins Own Game

With the score knotted at 1-1 North End put the game on ice with a two-run rally in the sixth. Mulvey singled and went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Ray Skidmore's single. George Rice moved Skidmore to third with a hit and Bob Stallings produced what proved to be the bingle that won the game.

Penner walloped a homer, double and single to pace the Delicatets, whose lead dwindled to one-half game as the runnerup Amvets trounced Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, at Community Park by the score of 16 to 1. The Amvets scored nine runs in the fifth inning.

Sheetz and Baker limited the Legion to three hits while the Amvets gathered 15 safeties, Grimes heading the assault with three blows. Lou Bell smacked a homer for the victors.

Harry Minnicks batted in eight runs as Astor Cab walloped the Concord Clothiers on the Rolling Mill diamond by the score of 14 to 4. Minnicks poled two homers, one with the bases loaded and the other with two aboard and also batted in another run with a three-base wallop. Bill Underdonk also garnered three hits for the winners while Cleggett had two safeties for the Clothiers.

Virginia Avenue's Merchants jumped out of last place in the ten-club circuit by defeating the Maccabees by the score of 9 to 5 at Penn Avenue Field. Nick Lisanti with three doubles and Mason with a double and single topped the Virginia Avenue hitters while C. Athey garnered three bingles and Harden and Cecil obtained two each for the Bees. Grimes hit a home run for the losers.

Reed's Upset V. F. W.

Reed's Electricians upset the Veterans of Foreign Wars by the score of 5 to 3 at East Side field.

The winners gave Tyree faultless support afield and executed three snappy double plays to stop the Vets in their tracks. Hixenbaugh homered in the second inning with Minnicks on base. The scores:

Bob Lindsey went the route for Ridgeley while Herman Brant worked on the firing line for the Naval Reserve. The latter fanned eight.

Powers Receives Babst Athletic Award

"Tommy" Annexes Five Senior Prizes

Noyes Thompson "Tommy" Powers, Allegany High School's all-around athlete, who performed brilliantly in track and field, football, basketball and baseball for Blue and White teams, was presented the Babst Award—a gold watch donated by Charles H. Babst, an AHS alumnus, now employed by the Celanese Corporation, New York City—at Allegany's commencement exercises last night.

Powers became the twenty-first Allegany High School senior to win the annual prize which was first won by Randolph Millholland in 1926.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Marian T. Powers of 505 Washington street, has been an important figure in athletics at the Campobello school since he came here from Indiana with his parents and entered the 9th grade.

Won Eight Letters

The Babst Award goes annually to a senior for superiority in athletic leadership and Noyes Powers earned it as well as the good wishes of his many friends. He won three letters in baseball, two in basketball, two in football and one in track.

In football he was a reserve back in 1944. The following year he was regular fullback for Allegany's city championship team and had the misfortune to suffer a broken leg in the Thanksgiving Day game with Fort Hill. This injury kept him out of basketball in his junior year but last season he served as forward and co-captain of Allegany's championship cage team.

Powers excelled in the high and broad jumps and relay events in track and field while in baseball he started as a shortstop.

Captures Five Prizes

Mathematics Award of $5, donated by Franklin C. Ankeney.

Welcome Home Prize, a gold medal, donated by the Second National Bank.

Phalanx Favored In Dwyer Stakes

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 13—The Phalanx cheering and chowder society, which finally got something to holler about when their stretch-sizzler won the Belmont, will find out in the Dwyer tomorrow whether he can make it stick on the other three year olds.

As a matter of fact, the way the Dwyer lined up at the entry box in the secretary's office at Aqueduct today, this mile-and-a-quarter figures to be made to order for the gentleman from Virginia.

Neither Jet Pilot, his conqueror in the Kentucky Derby, nor Faultless, who ran away from him in the Preakness, will be on hand to throw a pitch at the $40,800 Dwyer paycheck. Then Aqueduct's quarter-mile long stretch figures to be just the right size to give Phalanx room to turn loose his closing lightning.

On top of that, the size of the field—nine—isn't big enough to get him into trouble. And there just doesn't appear to be any other gee-gee in it who has indicated up to now that he can carry Phalanx's shoes, in spite of the 126-pound top-weight the Virginian will be toting.

Steering him will be Chilean Ruperto Donoso, who replaced Eddie Arcaro aboard the colt in the Belmont and piloted him home on top all by himself. As a result, the Dwyer slice, along with his $190,835 bankroll as of right now, figures to put Phalanx well over the $200,000 mark.

Best-liked of the others is another Virginian, Brabancon, who wearied at the king-size mile-and-a-half at Belmont, but who turned in the sharpest Dwyer workout of them all this week.

Ed Goes On Spree

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 13 (AP)—"Lucky Ed," a horse entered in the second race at Narragansett Park, broke away from handlers at the starting gate this afternoon, vaulted the track fence, raced through the parking lot and out into Newport Avenue, Rumford.

While East Providence police were mounting an organized hunt, Owner A. R. Famiglietti took after his animal in his auto, finally overtaking it a mile or more from the track. "Lucky Ed" was returned to the stables apparently unhurt.

Metz And Harbert Lead In National Open Golf

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (AP)—Dick Metz of Chicago and Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Detroit stood a stroke in front of the field tonight at the halfway point in the National Open Golf Championship, and the rush of the homebred stars to have themselves fitted for plus-fours appeared at least to have been stemmed.

Bobby Locke, the short-pants menace from South Africa, at last proved himself fallible on the greens as he shot over-par golf for the first time in 30 consecutive rounds in this country and fell three strokes behind the pace-setters. It still was a wide-open championship, with almost anything likely to happen in tomorrow's final 36-holes.

Metz, the firmly-muscled ex-Texan, and Harbert, one of the game's longest drivers, were deadlocked with record-equalling totals of 139 after two rounds of the par-71 St. Louis Country Club course. Only one blow behind was Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., at 140.

Metz, participant the past winter in a much-publicized incident in which Freddy Corcoran, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' Association, was punched and hospitalized out in California, added a 70 today to his 69 of yesterday to grab the co-leadership with Harbert.

Harbert, with every chance to take a commanding lead, blew up on the last four holes today to score a 72 and wind up square with Metz. He was one of three players who shot brilliant 67's yesterday. The other two, Henry Ransom of Chicago and Harry Todd of Dallas, faded somewhat in today's sun and wind.

Pittsburgh Gives Up On Behrman; Returns Pitcher To Brooklyn

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today gave up on Pitcher Hank Behrman, part of the five-player "prize package" obtained in a deal with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and returned the slim right-hander to Brooklyn.

Behrman's return, under an agreement made at the time of the deal, was announced by Pirate General Manager Roy Hamey. The Pirates will obtain a refund not announced but estimated at $50,000. Behrman appeared in 10 Pirate games, pitched 24⅓ innings, gave 33 hits and 17 walks and was charged with two losses against no wins.

The Brooklyn "package" brought to the Pirates was said to have cost in the neighborhood of $200,000. It also included Pitchers Kirby Higbe and Cal McLish, Infielder Gene Mauch and Catcher Homer Howell. Only Higbe, Howell and Mauch remain. McLish was sent to Albany under option.

Fusari Defeated By Tony Pellone

Pellone came from far back after Fusari piled up a towering edge through the first eight rounds to catch the eye of one judge and Referee Arthur Donovan, although the other judge balloted for Fusari. The Associated Press score card voted for Fusari, six rounds to three, with one even, giving the swift swatter from Irvington, N. J. Six of the first eight rounds.

Boston Gets 14 Hits, Scores 6-2 Triumph

Barrett, who pitched a one-hitter against the Chicago Cubs his last time out, limited the Pirates to six blows today and joined lustily in the Braves' 14-hit attack on Truett (Rip) Sewell and Art Herring by punching out two doubles and scoring twice. Box:

CUBS WIN 4TH IN ROW

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs beat their Philadelphia "cousins" again today, 4 to 3, for the eighth straight time this season and the seventh time by one run, and the Cubs moved within a half game of the league-leading New York Giants, who were idle.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Cubs.

Hank Borowy edged Charley Schanz in a slug duel for his seventh victory. Borowy allowed eight hits, fanned six and walked three while the big Philly righthander yielded nine hits, fanned five and walked five. An unearned run in the sixth uneventfully proved decisive. Box:

The North End Social and Athletic Club snapped the ten-game winning streak of Lacy's Delicatets by the score of 3 to 2 in a City Softball League game yesterday at Stitcher Field.

By winning the NESA Club tossers extended their victory streak to four games. The North Enders have won six out of their last seven games played.

Stallings Wins Own Game

With the score knotted at 1-1 North End put the game on ice with a two-run rally in the sixth. Mulvey singled and went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Ray Skidmore's single. George Rice moved Skidmore to third with a hit and Bob Stallings produced what proved to be the bingle that won the game.

Penner walloped a homer, double and single to pace the Delicatets, whose lead dwindled to one-half game as the runnerup Amvets trounced Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, at Community Park by the score of 16 to 1. The Amvets scored nine runs in the fifth inning.

Sheetz and Baker limited the Legion to three hits while the Amvets gathered 15 safeties, Grimes heading the assault with three blows. Lou Bell smacked a homer for the victors.

Harry Minnicks batted in eight runs as Astor Cab walloped the Concord Clothiers on the Rolling Mill diamond by the score of 14 to 4. Minnicks poled two homers, one with the bases loaded and the other with two aboard and also batted in another run with a three-base wallop. Bill Underdonk also garnered three hits for the winners while Cleggett had two safeties for the Clothiers.

Virginia Avenue's Merchants jumped out of last place in the ten-club circuit by defeating the Maccabees by the score of 9 to 5 at Penn Avenue Field. Nick Lisanti with three doubles and Mason with a double and single topped the Virginia Avenue hitters while C. Athey garnered three bingles and Harden and Cecil obtained two each for the Bees. Grimes hit a home run for the losers.

Reed's Upset V. F. W.

Reed's Electricians upset the Veterans of Foreign Wars by the score of 5 to 3 at East Side field.

The winners gave Tyree faultless support afield and executed three snappy double plays to stop the Vets in their tracks. Hixenbaugh homered in the second inning with Minnicks on base. The scores:

Ridgeley's American Legion tossers defeated the Naval Reserve nine in an Interstate League game yesterday at Taylor Field by the score of 6 to 1. Rain and darkness halted the game in the top half of the eighth inning.

Two timely triples accounted for three of the Ridgeley tallies. In the first frame George Nestor tripled with two aboard and in the third Paul Lindsey hit for three sacks to send Bennett home.

Two games are scheduled in the Interstate League today. Centerville plays the F. O. Eagles at Community Park and Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, plays in Barrelville. Both games will start at 4 p. m.

Four games are on tap for Sunday. Cumberland Legion plays host to Centerville at Community Park, the Moose meets Naval Reserve at Taylor Field, the Eagles invade Barrelville and Ridgeley Legion is host to the Moorefield Legion. Box:

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 — Dick Haymes goes to Universal-International for two pictures. That's the very first time I knew that Dick and 20th had parted company. Apparently, it was all perfectly friendly, the parting, I mean, with Dick deciding to sing his songs by the free lance method.

Haymes' first is "Up In Central Park" in which he will be teamed with the star Deanna Durbin. This is the Mike Todd play and is the first Broadway show ever bought for her. William Seiter is the director, and Harold Tunberg, the producer.

One thing more about the Haymes deal. I hear through the grapevine that 20th allowed him to go to Universal-International and make his own deal which, if you ask me, is the way relations should be between a star and a company after they part company.

Greta Garbo is really serious about returning to the screen, but she wants to make her return in France. She has a commitment with George Cukor to direct her in a picture, which a French company will produce.

At first she was interested in starring in "Duchesse La Nageais," a French play in which the actress who made a hit in "The Eagle Has Two Heads" in Paris, was appearing. But now this idea is dead and again the Garbo is looking for a story. As soon as she finds one she and Cukor will take off for Paris.

I sat next to Jack Cummings and his attractive blonde bride at Louis B. Mayer's dinner a few nights ago, and he told me he is getting "The Story of Monty Stratton" ready for the screen.

Monty, who hailed from Greenville, Texas, and who was one of the great all-time pitchers when he was the star of the Chicago White Sox, lost his leg at the height of his success. But that didn't down him. He's now playing ball in Texas.

When Jack told me that he wants Van Johnson for the role of Monty, I remembered how much Ronald Reagan wanted to play that part.

Pretty swell on the part of Mike Curtiz to give Busby Berkeley the best chance he's had in three years. Buz, completely straightened out now, is not only directing the dance sequences in "Romance In High C" —but Mike is keeping him on as a full fledged director on some of his independent movies.

All right, so Berkeley in the past has been a bad boy. But everybody deserves a helping hand—particularly when he has turned over a new leaf and wants to do the right thing.

Chatter in Hollywood: Far be it from me to say that six-year-old Maureen Reagan (daughter of Jane Wyman and Ronnie Reagan) has the right idea when she wrote "I Love You" to every boy in her class —but with those tactics, how can she lose romantically?

"And so does every other boy in the class," laughed Jane, "but she really talks more about your Tony than any of the others. In fact," added Jane, "She and another little girl had a fight over him."

Several familiar faces from the Warner Brothers lot are on the "High Wall" set, Robert Taylor's picture. The director, Curt Bernhardt, and the produced Robert Lord were both formerly at the Burbank Studio.

Besides Bob, Herbert Marshall is in the cast as a murderer, if you please. He does the "Dr Jekyl-Mr. Hyde" part, and you know how perfectly the suave Bart can be as the so charming wicked gentleman.

I can't believe rumors that Bart and Boots Mallory won't marry August 1, as they planned, because every night and every night they have dinner together. It doesn't look to me as if their romance is getting cold.

I love Jack Benny and there is nobody like him. But I must say young Jack Paar is doing a bang up job on Jack's summer replacement show. The boy is clever, funny and his material is fresh.

All of which may have recalled to R. K. O's attention that they have him under contract. For six months Paar has been on salary at the Gower Street Studio but he has yet to get his face and humor before a camera.

The Fabian Theaters have upped their offer for the United Artists company to $12,000,000, but Mary Pickford is holding out for $15,000,000. Looks to me as if my friend Mary will get that amount if she wants it, but I am not sure she wants to sell.

NEW YORK—There was a time when Greenwich Village was flecked with a few tiny specks of genius — Eugene O'Neill, Edna St. Vincent Millay and other once-fiery souls — but no more. You become aware of this sad state of affairs when you visit the annual outdoor art show that sprawls through the village streets just off Washington Square. The artists still wear berets and beards, and as dusk falls over the park there are still wild-eyed poets who seize glassy-eyed blondes by their thin shoulders and tell them their faces are like holy fire on a mountain—but if there is genius inside these eerie ones, their pores are too clogged for it to leak onto canvas or the printed page.

Paintings are everywhere in this show; they hang on iron fences and from the sides of buildings and even on the backs of shoeshine booths. This is no whim, or quaint old village custom, of course.

The outdoor art show is a thoroughly commercial venture now. I believe the "take" was well into the thousands last year. From the Bronx and Brooklyn and New Jersey and Westchester, the impressionable citizens make pilgrimages, eagerly hunting "originals."

The idea is that one day these canvasses will be worth untold millions, when the struggling young artist reaches the status of a Picasso or Renoir. Personally, I think the struggling young artists just grin sardonically and rub their hands when they see the suckers coming, like antique dealers who are going to palm off a rocking chair, circa Hoboken 1923, as one in which George Washington once sat.

A dazed, and bleary-eyed drunk, with a wood alcohol sunburn, sits in a doorway next to a church on MacDougal Street, and watches, somewhat scornfully. The crowds mushroom along, from one batch of sunsets and still lifes and seascapes to another. An ice cream vendor hawks his wares loudly, unaware that he is in the presence of Talent.

A little old woman, in brown beret and pink-striped blazer, works industriously on a portrait of a serious young gent with a mustache, who sits stiffly in a camp chair. We note from her rates, that the portrait will cost him two and a half bucks. Genius comes cheaply, these days.

A huge painting of a blonde in a gray dress looks obliquely over at the Minetta tavern, and a sign underneath it announces derisively, "Obviously, this portrait is not finished." Here's a sign that seems to have sneaked in by mistake: "See Bill Mack do his pantomimes of Al Jolson in tea room of Judson church."

Another drunk drifts by and taps you on the shoulder. As you look, he flings his arm in the general direction of the paintings. "You," he says, gravely, "could do better." He staggers on.

There is little pornography — The most daring scene, I suppose, is one of two lovers embracing under a full moon — but there is a symbolic painting or two. Here's one that looks like an atom bomb explosion.

"The Astral Plane," it is labeled. "The green mounds represent the different countries of the world. Where man stands alone as a clay body. Each has a spiritual light . . ." Here's one full of marching ghosts, which look like Bob Ripley's famous Chinese people marching around the world and passing one another.

"A Symbolic Primitive!" this one announces. "The Beginning, or the End of the Beginning." There is no cubism, no surrealism, no dada, not even an amateurish imitation of Dali.

By a vacant lot in Sullivan Street, another drunk poses, stiffly, for an artist, who obviously has been hunting for a Face With Character. Still another tosspot, a freshly-healed gash in his bald pate, wanders hopelessly around looking for artists who might want to put his Face With Character down on canvas, in exchange for whiskey money.

However, as you wander along, there is little to capture your eye. There are riots of color, hundreds of square-riggers sailing the canvas seas, dozens of caricatures of Clark Gable—and very little genius. We return to MacDougal Street, and find that our original drunk, who was only dubious a half hour before, has given up in disgust now and is lying down in the doorway, fast asleep.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to friends and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Earl Drenning. We are especially grateful to those who sent flowers and donated cars for the funeral.

MRS. PEARL DRENNING and FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, Wilbur E. Aronhalt, who passed away June 14, 1940.

Sadly missed by his FATHER and MOTHER.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to friends and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Earl Drenning. We are especially grateful to those who sent flowers and donated cars for the funeral.

MRS. PEARL DRENNING and FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, Wilbur E. Aronhalt, who passed away June 14, 1940.

A place is vacant in our home

Sadly missed by his FATHER and MOTHER.

Stock Market Rallies; Share Price Average Is Highest Since April 11

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—The stock market broke through its May peak on a late rally today with the share price average reaching its highest since April 11.

Industrial favorites led the upturn, with selected oils, chemisal mining and soft drink issues touching new 1947 highs. A number of rails joined the advance in the final hour. Although closing prices in many cases were under the day's best, gains of one to around three points were frequent.

American Telephone dipped to a new 1947 low at 157 before rebounding to finish ahead 1½ at 159¼. Cudahy climbed 1¾ to close at 40. Bidding attributed to an unsupported rumor that Britain might lift its price for gold to the equivalent of $40 an ounce stirred a brief flurry in mining shares, Homestake reaching a new 1947 top at 48, up 2¾. Coca-Cola spurted for the third day into new high ground at 175½, up six.

Better gains elsewhere included Santa Fe, ahead three at 80; International Harvester, three at 88; Youngstown Sheet, 1⅝ at 61¼; Chrysler, 1½ at 104½, and Goodyear, Goodrich, United States Steel, American Can, Air Reduction, Atlantic Coast Line, Schenley, Pepsi-Cola, Dome Mines, Alaska Juneau, Union Carbide, Caterpillar Tractor, J. I. Case, Northern Pacific, Montgomery Ward and Commonwealth and Southern.

On the Curb, dividend actions propped Illinois Power and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Also ahead were Cities Service, Derby Oil, United Light and American Cyanamid. Turnover of 410,000 shares here compared with 350,000 yesterday.

Quotations for favored carriers advanced fractions to two points in sensitive response to only modest demand. Volume contracted to $3,210,000 from Thursday's slim $3,581,500.

Some United States governments were shaded a trifle in the over-the-counter market, the Victory Loan 2½s of December 1967-72 dipping 1-32 to 102 29-32 bid.

Maj. Sanner Heads Ordnance Battalion

At a meeting of the Officers Reserve Corps of the Composite Group, Enlisted Reserve Corps, last night at headquarters, County Building, Union Street, Major Chauncy M. Sanner was named commander of an ordnance battalion to be organized here.

Major Sanner, present commander of the 80th Battalion, E. R. C., plans to have two ordnance companies and will announce his staff at a later date. He leaves June 23 to take an indoctrination course at the Armored School, Fort Knox, Ky.

The Composite Group headquarters announced that all enlisted male personnel who can qualify for active service in accordance with current standards for enlistment in the Regular Army, and who were discharged from active duty on or after May 12, 1945, are still being offered enlistment in the E. R. C. in the highest grade held during the war, regardless of time that has elapsed since discharge. Such enlistments must be made within six months of discharge or before July 1, 1947.

ACCIDENT DRIVER HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

A Hampshire County, W. Va., coroner's jury yesterday returned a manslaughter charge against Charles Reinoldi, 31, Baltimore, alleged driver of a car which collided with a machine driven by Samuel A. Hott, Romney, and killed his 10-months-old son, Billy Joe Hott, Sunday.

The jury which was called Monday examined the witnesses and the scene of the accident on Route 50 four miles West of Romney before returning its findings yesterday.

Trooper F. H. Tribett, West Virginia State Police, said Reinoldi waived a preliminary hearing before T. E. Pownall, Justice of the Peace, and posted bond to await action of the Hampshire County Grand Jury scheduled to convene the first Tuesday in July.

Mrs. Hott and four other Hott children were injured in the accident and taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., for treatment Sunday night. State Police said Hott's car ignited shortly after the accident and burned.

Hotel Improvement Discussed By C Of C

Need of improved hotel accommodations in Cumberland was one of the main topics of conversation last night at the fourth in a series of 15 "Improve Cumberland" meetings being sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce for members.

Better accommodations in local hotels, proved one of the chief topics of conversation, Harold W. Smith, Chamber secretary, said adding that many of the members also criticized the condition of alleys in downtown Cumberland and declared improvement and better maintenance would remove much of the dirt from the business district.

Other improvements discussed by members included the local traffic problem, unnecessary noise made by blowing horns and development of industry already in the area and the possibility of attracting new industries to the area.

Smith said the meeting is the fourth of a series in which between 10 and 15 members will be invited to each meeting to give them an opportunity to outline their ideas concerning improvements for the community.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—The stock market broke through its May peak on a late rally today with the share price average reaching its highest since April 11.

Industrial favorites led the upturn, with selected oils, chemical mining and soft drink issues touching new 1947 highs. A number of rails joined the advance in the final hour. Although closing prices in many cases were under the day's best, gains of one to around three points were frequent.

American Telephone dipped to a new 1947 low at 157 before rebounding to finish ahead 1½ at 159¼. Cudahy climbed 1¾ to close at 40. Bidding attributed to an unsupported rumor that Britain might lift its price for gold to the equivalent of $40 an ounce stirred a brief flurry in mining shares, Homestake reaching a new 1947 top at 48, up 2¾. Coca-Cola spurted for the third day into new high ground at 175½, up six.

Better gains elsewhere included Santa Fe, ahead three at 80; International Harvester, three at 88; Youngstown Sheet, 1¾ at 61¼; Chrysler, 1½ at 104½, and Goodyear, Goodrich, United States Steel, American Can, Air Reduction, Atlantic Coast Line, Schenley, Pepsi-Cola, Dome Mines, Alaska Juneau, Union Carbide, Caterpillar Tractor, J. I. Case, Northern Pacific, Montgomery Ward and Commonwealth and Southern.

On the Curb, dividend actions propped Illinois Power and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Also ahead were Cities Service, Derby Oil, United Light and American Cyanamid. Turnover of 410,000 shares here compared with 350,000 yesterday.

Quotations for favored carriers advanced fractions to two points in sensitive response to only modest demand. Volume contracted to $3,210,000 from Thursday's slim $3,581,500.

Some United States governments were shaded a trifle in the over-the-counter market, the Victory Loan 2⅞s of December 1967-72 dipping 1-32 to 102 29-32 bid.

Maj. Sanner Heads Ordnance Battalion

At a meeting of the Officers Reserve Corps of the Composite Group, Enlisted Reserve Corps, last night at headquarters, County Building, Union Street, Major Chauncy M. Sanner was named commander of an ordnance battalion to be organized here.

Major Sanner, present commander of the 80th Battalion, E. R. C., plans to have two ordnance companies and will announce his staff at a later date. He leaves June 23 to take an indoctrination course at the Armored School, Fort Knox, Ky.

A Signal Corps officer from the E. R. C. headquarters was present at the meeting to contact signal corps reserve officers to aid in organizing a communications company in this area.

The Composite Group headquarters announced that all enlisted male personnel who can qualify for active service in accordance with current standards for enlistment in the Regular Army, and who were discharged from active duty on or after May 12, 1945, are still being offered enlistment in the E. R. C. in the highest grade held during the war, regardless of time that has elapsed since discharge. Such enlistments must be made within six months of discharge or before July 1, 1947.

ACCIDENT DRIVER HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

A Hampshire County, W. Va., coronor's jury yesterday returned a manslaughter charge against Charles Reinoldi, 31, Baltimore, alleged driver of a car which collided with a machine driven by Samuel A. Hott, Romney, and killed his 10-months-old son, Billy Joe Hott, Sunday.

The jury which was called Monday examined the witnesses and the scene of the accident on Route 50 four miles West of Romney before returning its findings yesterday.

Trooper F. H. Tribett, West Virginia State Police, said Reinoldi waived a preliminary hearing before T. E. Pownall, Justice of the Peace, and posted bond to await action of the Hampshire County Grand Jury scheduled to convene the first Tuesday in July.

Mrs. Hott and four other Hott children were injured in the accident and taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., for treatment Sunday night. State Police said Hott's car ignited shortly after the accident and burned.

Reinoldi, who was held under $500 bond to await the jury's findings, told State Police that he lost control of his car after negotiating a curve because the road was slippery from a recent rain.

Marine Corps Buddies Enlist In Reserve

Two Marine Corps veterans who enlisted and served overseas together were sworn into the Marine Corps Reserve yesterday for two years by Maj. Remsen J. Cole, commanding officer of A Company, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve.

Both young men, Arnold R. Ciccanti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Ciccanti, Conshohocken, Pa., and Francis Edward Larrimore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Larrimore, Linthicum Heights, Md., are employed here by the Chamberlin Company of America.

They served in the Marine Corps together for three and a half years, including 18 months' service in the South Pacific, and were discharged February 14, 1946. Both enlisted in the reserve with the rank of corporal, according to Staff Sgt. Murrel W. Brainerd, local recruiter.

Contract negotiations between Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, will be resumed at a meeting with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company Monday at 10 a. m. A. E. Johnson, union president, reported yesterday.

Johnson said the union presented proposals for 21 amendments and revisions of the contract at a meeting with the company Thursday.

He said the opening session was preliminary but added there was agreement on several things in that session. Many of the items the union is asking have already been granted by the "Big Four," he said.

Club Tax Exemptions Upheld By County Board

Nicholson Appeals Decision To State

Allegany County Commissioners, sitting as a board of tax appeals yesterday afternoon, held hearings on the tax exemptions of nearly a score of clubs and organizations, and unanimously voted to continue to grant the exemptions in all cases.

Attorney to the Board, Lewis M. Wilson, assisted in conducting the hearings and asked the same questions in each case. Wilson inquired into the ownership, asked if any part of the net profit of each organization went to any member, probed into the purpose and activity of each organization and attempted to determine the amount of charitable and public welfare work each accomplishes.

Representatives of each of the several clubs and organizations explained that they "contribute liberally to such charities as the Red Cross and Community Chest," and each has its own particular charitable or welfare project, such as aid to crippled children, aged, infirm, needy, widows and orphans.

After the Board, upon the recommendation of Attorney Wilson, granted the exemptions, Somerville Nicholson, state supervisor of assessments, noted an appeal in each case, and the exemptions will now be heard by the State Tax Commission, it was indicated.

Followed State Instructions

Cites State Statute

Wilson said he believes the exemptions can be granted under Article 81, Section 7, which provides for exemptions to religious, charitable and other institutions. Nicholson's appeal was noted under the same law.

Among the organizations heard yesterday were:

All Types Included

All Ghan City Club, Inc., and All Ghan Country Club, Ins., both represented by George Brown.

Nicholson said this group represents only about half of the clubs and organizations now granted exemptions, and that others will be asked to appear at a later meeting of the board of tax review. He said the group yesterday is a cross section of the clubs and organizations now enjoying exemptions in the county, and also pointed out that some of these organizations pay taxes on any part of their real estate which is rented to others or is revenue producing.

Celanese Strike Begins Its Third Week In Deadlock

Joint Meeting May Be Held Next Week

Contract negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America, were still deadlocked last night as the strike of the 8,600 member union entered its third week. Neither party to the dispute conceded any possibility of a weekend development which might contribute to a settlement of the strike.

James Holden, federal conciliator, who has arranged three joint conferences since the strike began in an effort to break the deadlock, left Cumberland yesterday after informing the parties to the dispute he expected to return Monday. Although he is expected to attempt to arrange another conference early next week, no date has been set for the meeting, the News learned.

The strike, which threatens to hamper the economic life of the entire Cumberland area, had cost in excess of $780,000 in wages during its first two weeks, company figures reveal.

One of the nine issues which separated the company and union when the TWUA local closed the plant May 30 is considered settled and there is partial agreement on a second point, according to a recent report.

The union has scheduled a rally at Lonaconing tonight at 7:30 p. m. and the strike committee will meet Tuesday.

Fred T. Small, plant manager and vice-president of the corporation, declared Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager, had full authority to negotiate an agreement at the plant, subject only to the controls of good business practice. The statement was in answer to an appeal by Wesley Cook, assistant rayon director for TWUA, who stated in negotiations and in the press, that the "policy making officials of the company should come to Cumberland and study the problems first hand and to participate in negotiations for their solutions".

Has Full Authority

"He would have our employes and the public believe that negotiations are being conducted between the union and our union office 'by teletype and telephone through a third party'—presumably Mr. Allen and me.

"In his capacity as superintendent of personnel at this plant it is one of Mr. Allan's responsibilities to conduct contract and wage negotiations with the union. He has successfully conducted the last two negotiations without the presence of the officials Mr. Cook now seeks.

"There is no secret about keeping one's head office intimately informed about the progress of important negotiations. It is a common sense business requirement, particularly where millions of dollars are involved. Our head office is completely informed through stenographic records of each meeting, press reports, estimates of cost, etc., so there is no question about our officials being fully informed as to the union's views and the factory's stand.

"Mr. Allan has the full confidence of the company he represents and he is vested with the necessary authority to negotiate labor contracts on its behalf, subject to the controls which any good business could expect.

"We do not presume to dictate to the union as to its choice of representatives and it ill behooves Mr. Cook to lay down who the company's negotiators should be."

Cook, yesterday issued an appeal for policy making officials of the Celanese Corporation of America to come to Cumberland and get "first hand" information on the strike.

Charges "Fact" Mistake

"I have read with interest Mr. (Fred T.) Small's statement Thursday regarding major issues of dispute and in particular the reaction of arbitration proposals," declared Cook today.

"Unfortunately, Mr. Small did not participate in any of the on the record conferences. He is either misinformed, or has failed to read the stenographic record. This has resulted in serious mistakes in fact. For example, he states the cost of the union's demands at the time of the strike as 23 cents per hour. The actual cost, using company estimates for each individual item, was ten cents per hour.

"During the past week, the committee has worked on the cost problem, so that it is able to present these demands in a form today which amounts to not more than six cents per hour.

"No good purpose can be served by telling the people of Cumberland that the union was demanding 23 cents, when the actual demand was ten cents, or by leaving the impression that the union is still demanding 23, when the actual demand is six cents per hour.

"The union is at a loss to know which official of the Celanese Corporation is the possessor of the true facts. The stenographic record shows Mr. (Edward R.) Allan stated categorically on Wednesday, in conference, that the cost of eliminating Sunday work in Textile Department of the plant would amount to $7,000,000. Mr. Small stated in yesterday's Evening Times that he would be able to eliminate both Saturday and Sunday work in the Textile Departments at a cost of $4,000,000.

"The application of simple arithmetic to Mr. Small's figures would indicate that the cost of eliminating Sunday work in the Textile Departments would be in excess of $2,000,000. While Mr. Allan's figures of $7,000,000 for elimination of Sunday work is well in excess of $2,000,000, nevertheless, there is a serious disparity between the figures quoted by the two executives of the corporation.

"As a matter of fact, the com-

Holmes Reports On Meeting Of County Boards

Commissioner James Holmes reported to the County Board yesterday on his visit to the Western Maryland County Commissioners Association at Towson, which was also attended by Albert S. Paye, county engineer.

Albert Ward, secretary of the State Tax Commission proposed, Holmes said, that the best method of handling distribution of gasoline tax money for this county, would be to have the incorporated cities and towns to bill the county on the basis of the number of automobile vehicles registered in the corporate limits.

Holmes said sentiment was expressed almost unanimously by commissioners from the several counties, objecting to high material costs and specifications of the State Roads Commission under which the counties must operate in building roads.

There was general agreement that state specifications are too high for many types of roadways, especially in rural section where traffic is light. Lower grade material, and consequently lower costs would enable the counties to build more miles of roads and the program could be adjusted to suit the individual counties' needs, Holmes explained.

Paye was appointed a member of a three-man board or advisory group to the Association to assist in planning legislation to allow the counties to do construction work with their own road crews and equipment under certain conditions.

A committee which county commissioner groups formed last year, will formulate plans for a bill to be presented to the General Assembly, which will permit counties to do road construction projects with their own crews with a limit of $15,000 per project. Another provision would permit counties to bid, along with private contractors on county road projects.

Roger Willard, engineer for Frederick county and the engineer from Prince Georges county are the other members of the advisory group.

First Returns Received From City Tax Bills

Tax bills for 1947-48 were mailed Thursday and the first money was received yesterday, according to Charles F. Burke, city tax collector.

Deadline for payment without interest is July 24. After that date, monthly interest will be charged at one-half of one per cent as of May 24, the date of the levy.

This year's mailing of city tax bills was one of the earliest in recent years, Burke said. Last year the bills were not sent out until the last week in June.

Burke declined to state the total number of bills sent out or to reveal the amount of money involved. However, the city levied for an estimated $692,500.

Vocke Road Total Cost Is Figured At $47,394

The State Roads Commission, in a letter to Albert S. Paye, county engineer, will let the contract for resurfacing Vocke Road, to the Cumberland Contracting Company, Paye informed the County Commissioners.

The local contractor was low bidder at a figure of $40,300, however the total cost of the project will be $47,394.50, including engineering costs, legal work and rights of way clearance, etc. Under the federal aid program the United States pays half of the cost and the county pays the other half.

World Philosophy Changed, Deuel Tells Graduates

"The entire world is looking to America for leadership today and the young men and women who are graduating from high schools in this ountry can help furnish this leadership by practicing the policies of tolerance and democracy that have been taught them", Capt. John V. Deuel, army pilot and staff officer and author of two best sellers, told a capacity audience last night at the annual commencement exercises of Allegany High School in the school auditorium.

The speaker explained that the graduates of today are facing a world in which the geographic aspects are the same as they have been for many years, but in which the philosophy of human thinking has changed completely in the last few years. This change has been due to the war, he stated, and the old-fashioned virtues of work, thrift, balance and stability have become sadly lacking. He urged the youth of America to try to recover these virtues and justify the faith of other weaker nations in our country.

Powers Gives Oration

Noyes T. Powers, a member of the graduating class who received five awards at the exercises, emphasized the three most important things the graduate desires to look forward to in the future, in his class oration. "Peace, prosperity and freedom from want and uncertainty" were enumerated as the qualities expected to be found in a democratic country. Powers explained how these things could be attained and described the upheavel and disorder that can be created if they are not attained.

Ralph R. Webster, principal of the high school, paraded an array of unlucky "thirteens" before the audience by announcing the date, Friday, the 13th; 13 awards; 13 chairs reserved for senior members of the choral club and this was Mr. Webster's 13th year at Allegany High School.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools in Allegany County, announced that diplomas could not be presented due to a printing delay, and added that this is the first graduation without diplomas during nearly 60 years at Allegany High School. The graduates were called by Mr. Webster and congratulated by Edgar A. Dashiell, president of the county education board.

Ihvocation and Benediction were given by Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Three selections were sung by the school choir and choral club with a soprano solo by Doris Davis. Selections by the orchestra and an organ interlude by Jean Marquis opened the program.

There were 194 members of the graduting class, 112 girls and 82 boys. Mr. Webster announced the winners of 13 honors and awards, which in addition to the five won by Powers went to Doris Davis, Ina Hughes, Shirley Wickard, Eleanor Tiley, Lewis Walker, Barbara Murray, Lee DeWitt (Junior); and Elaine Diamond.

Platt Will Visit Wartime Friends In Europe Again

Local Musician To Return For 7 Weeks

A Cumberland veteran who gained wide recognition as a musician in Europe during the war and gave command performances before royalty along with entertaining allied soldiers, will return to the continent this summer—minus the uniform—to visit old friends.

Jack Platt, now supervisor of music for the Allegany County Board of Education, said he expects to leave in July for Paris where he will first complete contracts for release of several recordings made by his band during the war and then will go to Geneva, Switzerland, to study for three weeks at the Conservatory of Music.

Served Four Years

A music instructor at Allegany High School before he began his four-year tour of duty with the United States Army, Platt became known in European circles after his band replaced that of the late Glen Miller's following Miller's disappearance while flying over enemy territory.

Already several of the band's recordings have been released—the most recent "Love Me, or Leave Me" has sold 50,000 discs in Brussels, Platt admitted, and a Paris recording company is interested in several more, he explained.

The tip, which will be made by plane this time, will differ greatly from the last and once on the continent Platt said he expects to visit several acquaintances he made while playing in Paris and other European capitals.

First on the list, he said, will be Charles Delauney, president of the Musical Hot Club of Paris, who was instrumental in aiding the Allegany County musician on several occasions while he was making his uniform-clad tour of Europe.

Platt declared that he expects to revisit Italy, Denmark, Belgium, France and Switzerland during his seven weeks stay, but said he will probably pass up a trip into Germany because of the "red tape" involved to gain admittance.

During the stay in France he has been invited to spend a weekend at the villa of William Somerset Maugham, famed novelist, on the Riviera. Platt occupied Maugham's apartment for a time while he was stationed in Paris with the Army.

Many More Friends

Also on the visiting list in England is Mrs. Winnifred Winant, sister-in-law of the former American ambassador, whom he met dur-

Light Rain Breaks City's Heat Wave

High temperature yesterday was 73 degrees, a drop of 25 degrees from Wednesday and Thursday's reading of 98 degrees, the hottest on record for any June 11 and 12 since city weather records were started back in 1912.

The previous record highs for those two days were set in 1933, when the mercury climbed to 96 degrees June 11 and 97 degrees June 12.

Temperatures this week were cool compared to one blistering week in July, 1936, however, when readings ranged from 91 to 109 on July 10. In that month there were eight days when the temperature was 100 or more.

Attendance at Constitution Park swimming pool reflected the hot weather this week, with record paid admissions reported for the current season, 833 on Wednesday and 864, the highest since the pool opened Memorial Day, on Thursday.

With cloudy skies and a cool breeze yesterday, however, only seven persons were hardy enough to take a swim in the pool, and Nestor Licot, manager, closed the pool in the afternoon to drain and refill it in preparation for weekend swimmers. There have been 5,231 paid admissions since the pool opened May 30.

Disallow Interest Payment Of $3,672

Judges of Orphans Court yesterday issued an opinion and a court order disallowing the sum of $3,672 interest on a mortgage from November 30, 1912, to September 30, 1946, which the executor of the estate of Henry F. Knippenberg, allowed to Frederick H. Knippenberg, administrator of the estate of Letitia Knippenberg.

According to attorneys when Henry Knippenberg, died in 1911, he left his wife, Letitia, a life interest in a large farm on Irons Mountain, encumbered with a mortgage of $1,800. According to his will at the death of his widow, the property was to be sold and proceeds distributed in specific legacies to seven children with the residue to four children.

In 1912, Mrs. Knippenberg, widow of Henry, paid off the $1,700 mortgage and it was assigned to her. The executor of Henry F. Knippenberg, in his first and final account allowed the principal sum of $1,800 to the administrator of the estate of Mrs. Letitia Knippenberg and in addition, allowed the sum of $3,672 as interest on the mortgage from November 30, 1912 to September 30, 1946, when she died.

Testimony showed that some of the children continued to live on the farm with her until her death, and it was shown she had lived there and derived her livelihood from the place for 34 years along with two of her children. The executor sold the farm in 1946 for $9,125.

The court ruled that under the law a life tenant is entitled to the rents and profits and in return therefore must pay taxes and interest. In this case, the court stated, Letitia was obligated to pay the interest and taxes and in return lived on the property and derived her existance therefrom for the remainder of her life. Having elected to pay off the mortgage and relieving herself of the interest obligation during her lifetime she cannot now through her administrator, the court ruled, claim reimbursement for the interest she saved.

There was no dispute in the case over the allowance of the principal of the mortgage of $1,800 and the court also held it proper but the allowance for $3,672 in interest was termed "not proper and not allowed."

Dr. Joseph Franklin's Condition Critical

Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer, was reported in critical condition last night at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore, where he was admitted May 10.

Two Local Women Are Charged With Rent Violations

Summoned To Appear In District Court

Loughrie said Mrs. Georgia Sykes, 807 Maryland Avenue, was summoned to appear within 20 days at the area rent office in Baltimore to answer a bill of complaint filed in United States District Court, Baltimore, on behalf of Frank R. Creedon, housing expediter.

The bill of complaint states that, effective November 23, 1945, maximum rent for a second floor apartment at 221 Greene Street was decreased from $35 to $25 monthly by order of E. D. Condron, rent director for the Hagerstown area.

During the period from January 15 to May 14 of this year, according to the bill of complaint, Mrs. Sykes charged the tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGann, rental of $35 monthly, with total overcharge for the period amounting to $40.

Under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, the right of action for three times the alleged overcharged amount, or $50, whichever is greater, is vested in Creedon if the tenants involved fail to bring suit for recovery of damages within 30 days after the alleged violation, Loughrie explained.

Creedon asked for a judgment of $120 plus court costs against Mrs. Sykes, and for a refund to Mr. and Mrs. McGann of the amount in excess of maximum rent, deducted from $120. He also asked for an injunction enjoining her from asking or receiving rents in excess of the maximum rent of $25 monthyl for the apartment.

Mrs. Neva May Niland, 147 Polk Street, was summoned to appear in United States District Court, Baltimore, within 20 days to answer charges that she asked and received rents higher than the maximum rental established under rent regulations for apartments at that address. The tenants involved were not identified in Creedon's bill of complaint, and the amount of the alleged overcharges was not specified.

Stage Is Set For Mammoth Air Show Sunday

Sponsors Prepared For Crowd Of 10,000

One hundred members of the Optimist Club and Junior Association of Commerce, will report at the Municipal Airport tomorrow at 8 a. m., to begin the task of selling and taking tickets, parking cars and patrolling the field for the second annual Greater Cumberland Air Show.

Originally sponsored by the Jaycees with the cooperation of John Chapman, airport manager, the two civic and service organizations this year are co-sponsors and have joined forces to make the show bigger and better than ever. They expect a crowd of 10,000 or more and claim they are ready to make everyone as comfortable as possible.

The show will open with a demonstration by the Goodyear blimp, Excelsior, which will arrive here this afternoon and will be seen in a prevue flight over the city. The blimp was scheduled here through the efforts of Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Parachute Jumps

Dick Miller, youthful parachute jumper, will be seen in a 12,000 foot jump, and he will also be seen later in the show, doing a new and sensational delayed drop and another spectacular thriller.

Beverly Howard, international champion of aerobatics will be seen flying his famous Clip-Wing Cub and later in the show will fly his famous German Brucker-Jungmeister. Besides being the world's precision and acrobatic flyer, Howard is president of the Hawthorne Flying Service and president of the National Aviation Trades Association. He will demonstrate the stunts and acrobatics which won him the world's championship at Miami.

Local Stunt Pilots

Woody Edmondson of Lynchburg, Va., will be back again, still dogging the backwash of Howard, as he did in Miami. Howard and Edmondson are fast friends, and compete with each other in every type of air show and contest. Woody will fly a P-51 here, which he plans to enter in the Cleveland air races. He will also fly his Clip-Wing Monocoupe.

Bernie Miltenberger, local pilot will present a comedy air act entitled, "How Not To Fly An Airplane".

Speed and formation flying will be featured by flights of military planes. The Army's A-26's coming here especially for the show, will demonstrate bombing runs, high and low altitude bombing and other features seldom seen by the public.

Many Added Attractions

Mass bombing tactics will be demonstrated by a flight of 12 A-26's as they rendezvous over the field.

The show begins promptly at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, but there will be scores of planes at the field all day, to attract the spectators. Sponsors suggest that early arrivals will have greater opportunity to inspect all the ships and especially the Excelsior blimp, which must leave early, in order to return to Washington before nightfall.

As added attractions, the Hyndman, Pa., High School band is coming here for the show and will present a band concert. Gene Stripling, will be back again to act as master of ceremonies and work the amplifiers, describing and announcing each act in his own humorous and pleasing style.

He pleaded guilty to both counts and was sentenced to serve a year in each, with Magistrate Perdew ruling that the two terms run concurrently.

Crabtree had been found guilty on June 19, 1939, on assault count preferred by his father, Argyle Crabtree, and had been paroled for six months with the provision that he abstain from intoxicating liquors and not molest his father or his family. Magistrate Perdew handled the case.

James Scell, Barrelville, was ordered held in default of $500 bond when arraigned yesterday on a paternity charge. He faces action of the October grand jury.

Club Tax Exemptions Upheld By County Board

Nicholson Appeals Decision To State

Allegany County Commissioners, sitting as a board of tax appeals yesterday afternoon, held hearings on the tax exemptions of nearly a score of clubs and organizations, and unanimously voted to continue to grant the exemptions in all cases.

Attorney to the Board, Lewis M. Wilson, assisted in conducting the hearings and asked the same questions in each case. Wilson inquired into the ownership, asked if any part of the net profit of each organization went to any member, probed into the purpose and activity of each organization and attempted to determine the amount of charitable and public welfare work each accomplishes.

Representatives of each of the several clubs and organizations explained that they "contribute liberally to such charities as the Red Cross and Community Chest," and each has its own particular charitable or welfare project, such as aid to crippled children, aged, infirm, needy, widows and orphans.

After the Board, upon the recommendation of Attorney Wilson, granted the exemptions, Somerville Nicholson, state supervisor of assessments, noted an appeal in each case, and the exemptions will now be heard by the State Tax Commission, it was indicated.

Followed State Instructions

Cites State Statute

Wilson said he believes the exemptions can be granted under Article 81, Section 7, which provides for exemptions to religious, charitable and other institutions. Nicholson's appeal was noted under the same law.

Among the organizations heard yesterday were:

All Types Included

Postburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, represented by A. Charles Stewart.

Nicholson said this group represents only about half of the clubs and organizations now granted exemptions, and that others will be asked to appear at a later meeting of the board of tax review. He said the group yesterday is a cross section of the clubs and organizations now enjoying exemptions in the county, and also pointed out that some of these organizations pay taxes on any part of their real estate which is rented to others or is revenue producing.

Celanese Strike Begins Its Third Week In Deadlock

Joint Meeting May Be Held Next Week

Contract negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America, were still deadlocked last night as the strike of the 8,600 member union entered its third week. Neither party to the dispute conceded any possibility of a weekend development which might contribute to a settlement of the strike.

James Holden, federal conciliator, who has arranged three joint conferences since the strike began in an effort to break the deadlock, left Cumberland yesterday after informing the parties to the dispute he expected to return Monday. Although he is expected to attempt to arrange another conference early next week, no date has been set for the meeting, the News learned.

The strike, which threatens to hamper the economic life of the entire Cumberland area, had cost in excess of $780,000 in wages during its first two weeks, company figures reveal.

One of the nine issues which separated the company and union when the TWUA local closed the plant May 30 is considered settled and there is partial agreement on a second point, according to a recent report.

The union has scheduled a rally at Lonaconing tonight at 7:30 p. m. and the strike committee will meet Tuesday.

Fred T. Small, plant manager and vice-president of the corporation, declared Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager, had full authority to negotiate an agreement at the plant, subject only to the controls of good business practice. The statement was in answer to an appeal by Wesley Cook, assistant rayon director for TWUA, who stated in negotiations and in the press, that the "policy making officials of the company should come to Cumberland and study the problems first hand and to participate in negotiations for their solutions".

Has Full Authority

"He would have our employes and the public believe that negotiations are being conducted between the union and our union office 'by teletype and telephone through a third party'—presumably Mr. Allen and me.

"In his capacity as superintendent of personnel at this plant it is one of Mr. Allan's responsibilities to conduct contract and wage negotiations with the union. He has successfully conducted the last two negotiations without the presence of the officials Mr. Cook now seeks.

"Just as Mr. Cook carries out the policies laid down by his national office so does Mr. Allan for the company.

"There is no secret about keeping one's head office intimately informed about the progress of important negotiations. It is a common sense business requirement, particularly where millions of dollars are involved. Our head office is completely informed through stenographic records of each meeting, press reports, estimates of cost, etc., so there is no question about our officials being fully informed as to the union's views and the factory's stand.

"Mr. Allan has the full confidence of the company he represents and he is vested with the necessary authority to negotiate labor contracts on its behalf, subject to the controls which any good business could expect.

"We do not presume to dictate to the union as to its choice of representatives and it ill behooves Mr. Cook to lay down who the company's negotiators should be."

Cook, yesterday issued an appeal for policy making officials of the Celanese Corporation of America to come to Cumberland and get "first hand" information on the strike.

Charges "Fact" Mistake

"I have read with interest Mr. (Fred T.) Small's statement Thursday regarding major issues of dispute and in particular the reaction of arbitration proposals," declared Cook today.

"Unfortunately, Mr. Small did not participate in any of the on the record conferences. He is either misinformed, or has failed to read the stenographic record. This has resulted in serious mistakes in fact. For example, he states the cost of the union's demands at the time of the strike as 23 cents per hour. The actual cost, using company estimates for each individual item, was ten cents per hour.

"During the past week, the committee has worked on the cost problem, so that it is able to present these demands in a form today which amounts to not more than six cents per hour.

"No good purpose can be served by telling the people of Cumberland that the union was demanding 23 cents, when the actual demand was ten cents, or by leaving the impression that the union is still demanding 23, when the actual demand is six cents per hour.

"The union is at a loss to know which official of the Celanese Corporation is the possessor of the true facts. The stenographic record shows Mr. (Edward R.) Allan stated categorically on Wednesday, in conference, that the cost of eliminating Sunday work in Textile Department of the plant would amount to $7,000,000. Mr. Small stated in yesterday's Evening Times that he would be able to eliminate both Saturday and Sunday work in the Textile Departments at a cost of $4,000,000.

"The application of simple arithmetic to Mr. Small's figures would indicate that the cost of eliminating Sunday work in the Textile Departments would be in excess of $2,000,000. While Mr. Allan's figures of $7,000,000 for elimination of Sunday work is well in excess of $2,000,000, nevertheless, there is a serious disparity between the figures quoted by the two executives of the corporation.

Holmes Reports On Meeting Of County Boards

Commissioner James Holmes reported to the County Board yesterday on his visit to the Western Maryland County Commissioners Association at Towson, which was also attended by Albert S. Paye, county engineer.

Albert Ward, secretary of the State Tax Commission proposed, Holmes said, that the best method of handling distribution of gasoline tax money for this county, would be to have the incorporated cities and towns to bill the county on the basis of the number of automobile vehicles registered in the corporate limits.

Holmes said sentiment was expressed almost unanimously by commissioners from the several counties, objecting to high material costs and specifications of the State Roads Commission under which the counties must operate in building roads.

There was general agreement that state specifications are too high for many types of roadways, especially in rural section where traffic is light. Lower grade material, and consequently lower costs would enable the counties to build more miles of roads and the program could be adjusted to suit the individual counties' needs, Holmes explained.

Paye was appointed a member of a three-man board or advisory group to the Association to assist in planning legislation to allow the counties to do construction work with their own road crews and equipment under certain conditions.

A committee which county commissioner groups formed last year, will formulate plans for a bill to be presented to the General Assembly, which will permit counties to do road construction projects with their own crews with a limit of $15,000 per project. Another provision would permit counties to bid, along with private contractors on county road projects.

Roger Willard, engineer for Frederick county and the engineer from Prince Georges county are the other members of the advisory group.

Deadline for payment without interest is July 24. After that date, monthly interest will be charged at one-half of one per cent as of May 24, the date of the levy.

This year's mailing of city tax bills was one of the earliest in recent years, Burke said. Last year the bills were not sent out until the last week in June.

Burke declined to state the total number of bills sent out or to reveal the amount of money involved. However, the city levied for an estimated $692,500.

The State Roads Commission, in a letter to Albert S. Paye, county engineer, will let the contract for resurfacing Vocke Road, to the Cumberland Contracting Company, Paye informed the County Commissioners.

World Philosophy Changed, Deuel Tells Graduates

"The entire world is looking to America for leadership today and the young men and women who are graduating from high schools in this country can help furnish this leadership by practicing the policies of tolerance and democracy that have been taught them", Capt. John V. Deuel, army pilot and staff officer and author of two best sellers, told a capacity audience last night at the annual commencement exercises of Allegany High School in the school auditorium.

The speaker explained that the graduates of today are facing a world in which the geographic aspects are the same as they have been for many years, but in which the philosophy of human thinking has changed completely in the last few years. This change has been due to the war, he stated, and the old-fashioned virtues of work, thrift, balance and stability have become sadly lacking. He urged the youth of America to try to recover these virtues and justify the faith of other weaker nations in our country.

Powers Gives Oration

Noyes T. Powers, a member of the graduating class who received five awards at the exercises, emphasized the three most important things the graduate desires to look forward to in the future, in his class oration. "Peace, prosperity and freedom from want and uncertainty" were enumerated as the qualities expected to be found in a democratic country. Powers explained how these things could be attained and described the upheavel and disorder that can be created if they are not attained.

Ralph R. Webster, principal of the high school, paraded an array of unlucky "thirteens" before the audience by announcing the date, Friday, the 13th; 13 awards; 13 chairs reserved for senior members of the choral club and this was Mr. Webster's 13th year at Allegany High School.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools in Allegany County, announced that diplomas could not be presented due to a printing delay, and added that this is the first graduation without diplomas during nearly 60 years at Allegany High School. The graduates were called by Mr. Webster and congratulated by Edgar A. Dashiell, president of the county education board.

Invocation and Benediction were given by Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Three selections were sung by the school choir and choral club with a soprano solo by Doris Davis. Selections by the orchestra and an organ interlude by Jean Marquis opened the program.

There were 194 members of the graduting class, 112 girls and 82 boys.. Mr. Webster announced the winners of 13 honors and awards, which in addition to the five won by Powers went to Doris Davis, Ina Hughes, Shirley Wickard, Eeanor Tiley, Lewis Walker, Barbara Murray, Lee DeWitt (Junior); and Elaine Diamond.

Platt Will Visit Wartime Friends In Europe Again

Local Musician To Return For 7 Weeks

A Cumberland veteran who gained wide recognition as a musician in Europe during the war and gave command performances before royalty along with entertaining allied soldiers, will return to the continent this summer—minus the uniform—to visit old friends.

Jack Platt, now supervisor of music for the Allegany County Board of Education, said he expects to leave in July for Paris where he will first complete contracts for release of several recordings made by his band during the war and then will go to Geneva, Switzerland, to study for three weeks at the Conservatory of Music.

Served Four Years

A music instructor at Allegany High School before he began his four-year tour of duty with the United States Army, Platt became known in European circles after his band replaced that of the late Glen Miller's following Miller's disappearance while flying over enemy territory.

Already several of the band's recordings have been released—the most recent "Love Me, or Leave Me" has sold 50,000 discs in Brussels, Platt admitted, and a Paris recording company is interested in several more, he explained.

'The tip, which will be made by plane this time, will differ greatly from the last and once on the continent Platt said he expects to visit several acquaintances he made while playing in Paris and other European capitals.

First on the list, he said, will be Charles Delauney, president of the Musical Hot Club of Paris, who was instrumental in aiding the Allegany County musician on several occasions while he was making his uniform-clad tour of Europe.

Platt declared that he expects to revisit Italy, Denmark, Belgium, France and Switzerland during his seven weeks stay, but said he will probably pass up a trip into Germany because of the "red tape" involved to gain admittance.

During the stay in France he has been invited to spend a weekend at the villa of William Somerset Maugham, famed novelist, on the Riviera. Platt occupied Maugham's apartment for a time while he was stationed in Paris with the Army.

Many More Friends

Also on the visiting list in England is Mrs. Winnifred Winant, sister-in-law of the former American ambassador, whom he met dur-

Light Rain Breaks City's Heat Wave

Comparatively cool weather and light rain yesterday broke the heat wave which gripped Cumberland and most of the Eeastern Seaboard for three days.

High temperature yesterday was 73 degrees, a drop of 25 degrees from Wednesday and Thursday's reading of 98 degrees, the hottest on record for any June 11 and 12 since city weather records were started back in 1912.

The previous record highs for those two days were set in 1933, when the mercury climbed to 96 degrees June 11 and 97 degrees June 12.

Temperatures this week were cool compared to one blistering week in July, 1936, however, when readings ranged from 91 to 109 on July 10. In that month there were eight days when the temperature was 100 or more.

Attendance at Constitution Park swimming pool reflected the hot weather this week, with record paid admissions reported for the current season, 833 on Wednesday and 864, the highest since the pool opened Memorial Day, on Thursday.

With cloudy skies and a cool breeze yesterday, however, only seven persons were hardy enough to take a swim in the pool, and Nestor Licot, manager, closed the pool in the afternoon to drain and refill it in preparation for weekend swimmers. There have been 5,231 paid admissions since the pool opened May 30.

Two Local Women Are Charged With Rent Violations

Summoned To Appear In District Court

Summonses were served on two Cumberland women yesterday by Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States Marshal, in connection with alleged rent overcharges.

Loughrie said Mrs. Georgia Sykes, 807 Maryland Avenue, was summoned to appear within 20 days at the area rent office in Baltimore to answer a bill of complaint filed in United States District Court, Baltimore, on behalf of Frank R. Creedon, housing expediter.

The bill of complaint states that, effective November 23, 1945, maximum rent for a second floor apartment at 221 Greene Street was decreased from $35 to $25 monthly by order of E. D. Condron, rent director for the Hagerstown area.

During the period from January 15 to May 14 of this year, according to the bill of complaint, Mrs. Sykes charged the tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGann, rental of $35 monthly, with total overcharge for the period amounting to $40.

Under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, the right of action for three times the alleged overcharged amount, or $50, whichever is greater, is vested in Creedon if the tenants involved fail to bring suit for recovery of damages within 30 days after the alleged violation, Loughrie explained.

Creedon asked for a judgment of $120 plus court costs against Mrs. Sykes, and for a refund to Mr. and Mrs. McGann of the amount in excess of maximum rent, deducted from $120. He also asked for an injunction enjoining her from asking or receiving rents in excess of the maximum rent of $25 monthyl for the apartment.

Mrs. Neva May Niland, 147 Polk Street, was summoned to appear in United States District Court, Baltimore, within 20 days to answer charges that she asked and received rents higher than the maximum rental established under rent regulations for apartments at that address. The tenants involved were not identified in Creedon's bill of complaint, and the amount of the alleged overcharges was not specified.

Sponsors Prepared For Crowd Of 10,000

One hundred members of the Optimist Club and Junior Association of Commerce, will report at the Municipal Airport tomorrow at 8 a. m., to begin the task of selling and taking tickets, parking cars and patrolling the field for the second annual Greater Cumberland Air Show.

Originally sponsored by the Jaycees with the cooperation of John Chapman, airport manager, the two civic and service organizations this year are co-sponsors and have joined forces to make the show bigger and better than ever. They expect a crowd of 10,000 or more and claim they are ready to make everyone as comfortable as possible.

The show will open with a demonstration by the Goodyear blimp, Excelsior, which will arrive here this afternoon and will be seen in a prevue flight over the city. The blimp was scheduled here through the efforts of Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Parachute Jumps

Dick Miller, youthful parachute jumper, will be seen in a 12,000 foot jump, and he will also be seen later in the show, doing a new and sensational delayed drop and another spectacular thriller.

A flight of PT-19's will add speed and zest to the early part of the show as they demonstrate close formation flying and buzz the field at high speeds.

Beverly Howard, international champion of aerobatics will be seen flying his famous Clip-Wing Cub and later in the show will fly his famous German Brucker-Jungmeister. Besides being the world's precision and acrobatic flyer, Howard is president of the Hawthorne Flying Service and president of the National Aviation Trades Association. Local Stunt Pilots

Many Added Attractions

Mass bombing tactics will be demonstrated by a flight of 12 A-26's as they rendezvous over the field.

The show begins promptly at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, but there will be scores of planes at the field all day, to attract the spectators. Sponsors suggest that early arrivals will have greater opportunity to inspect all the ships and especially the Excelsior blimp, which must leave early, in order to return to Washington before nightfall.

As added attractions, the Hyndman, Pa., High School band is coming here for the show and will present a band concert. Gene Stripling, will be back again to act as master of ceremonies and work the amplifiers, describing and announcing each act in his own humorous and pleasing style.

Orphans Court Gives Opinion In Knippenburg Heirs' Claim

Disallow Interest Payment Of $3,672

Judges of Orphans Court yesterday issued an opinion and a court order disallowing the sum of $3,672 interest on a mortgage from November 30, 1912, to September 30, 1946, which the executor of the estate of Henry F. Knippenberg, allowed to Frederick H. Knippenberg, administrator of the estate of Letitia Knippenberg.

The court ordered the account restated accordingly.

Action grew from a petition filed by two of seven children of Henry and Letitia Kpnippenberg through their attorney, William H. Geppert, protesting the allowance of interest on the morgage. Thomas Lohr Richards, represented Frederick H. Knippenberg, administrator.

According to attorneys when Henry Knippenberg, died in 1911, he left his wife, Letitia, a life interest in a large farm on Irons Mountain, encumbered with a mortgage of $1,800. According to his will at the death of his widow, the property was to be sold and proceeds distributed in specific legacies to seven children with the residue to four children.

In 1912, Mrs. Knippenberg, widow of Henry, paid off the $1,700 mortgage and it was assigned to her. The executor of Henry F. Knippenberg, in his first and final account allowed the principal sum of $1,800 to the administrator of the estate of Mrs. Letitia Knippenberg and in addition, allowed the sum of $3,672 as interest on the mortgage from November 30, 1912 to September 30, 1946, when she died.

Testimony showed that some of the children continued to live on the farm with her until her death, and it was shown she had lived there and derived her livelihood from the place for 34 years along with two of her children. The executor sold the farm in 1946 for $9,125.

The court ruled that under the law a life tenant is entitled to the rents and profits and in return therefore must pay taxes and interest. In this case, the court stated, Letitia was obligated to pay the interest and taxes and in return lived on the property and derived her existance therefrom for the remainder of her life. Having elected to pay off the mortgage and relieving herself of the interest obligation during her lifetime she cannot now through her administrator, the court ruled, claim reimbursement for the interest she saved.

There was no dispute in the case over the allowance of the principal of the mortgage of $1,800 and the court also held it proper but the allowance for $3,672 in interest was termed "not proper and not allowed."
